

FUNDS

The secret of where Franklin Roosevelt got the money for his pre-convention campaign was recently investigated privately by one of his opponents.

It was found the largest amount was donated by Frank Walker of Pennsylvania, a former operator of motion picture theatres, now retired. Walker's investments now are supposed to be largely in government bonds.

Two other important contributors were young Henry Morgenthau and Jesse Straus of New York.

The anti-Roosevelt agent who pried into the matter found nothing of political value. The Roosevelt expenditures must have been considerable to round up 6664 convention delegates on the first ballot. They are said to have been modest in comparison with campaign chests raised by the leading presidential candidates when times were better.

Convention delegates were interested in the subject because no accounting of the expenditures has been made. Usually a Senate committee is appointed to conduct such an inquiry.

This time no charges of excessive or improper expenses were made on either side, so things must have been pure.

PHONES

One of Roosevelt's greatest expenses was unquestionably the telephone bills of his manager Farley. The latter has telephoned worse than Will Hays, the movie czar. He cannot look at a telephone without calling someone long distance. The longer the distance, the more likely he is to make the call.

He had direct connections with the executive mansion at Albany throughout the days and nights of the convention.

HEARST

Publisher William Randolph Hearst controlled the California delegation as much as McAdoo or Garner. He had helped to build the Texas Club there to some 40,000.

During the second day of the convention the word was spread to the faithful that he would announce for Roosevelt because Garner had no chance. The Hearst Chicago papers turned sweet as sugar candy to the Roosevelt cause.

In the early morning hours of the fifth day, his son telephoned to him in California asking that he use his influence to release the California delegation. He refused to do this but was largely influential in bringing about the latter break that put Roosevelt over.

TACTICS

The all-night session for the first three ballots was due to typical Democratic stubbornness. Rooseveltites decided to adjourn until three votes were taken. They thought they would be put over easily by then.

The anti-Roosevelt forces privately started to filibuster. That was why they insisted on polling delegations needlessly.

The Tammany crowd started it. They made countless parliamentary points standing for adjournment.

CONFERENCE

Wall Street's representatives at Chicago said the financial district would reluctantly support Mr. Hoover against Roosevelt. They generally liked the Democratic platform, except one provision. That pledged the party to mild government supervision of holding companies.

The spokesmen were not very much worried about it, believing it could not be put into effect. They thought it impossible to frame legislation along that line without violating the constitution.

The word was passed around that Roosevelt would seek to remove the fears of Wall Street by statements and activities early in the campaign. It was promised there would be nothing wild in the acceptance speech.

NOTES

Inside sources say Mr. Hoover will make his acceptance speech at the White House the latter part of July. . . . It will probably be a private affair with admittance by invitation only. . . . The public will be invited to listen on the radio. . . .

Plane Leaves New York Airport on First Leg of Flight This Morning

REPORT FAIR WEATHER Fliers Expect to Go Direct to Berlin After Harbor Grace Landing

BULLETIN
HARBOR GRACE, N. F., July 5.—(UP)—James Mattern and Bennett Griffin, around-the-world fliers, arrived safely at 2:37 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, after having been lost in fog and rain over northeast Newfoundland for more than two hours.

FLOYD BENNETT AIRPORT, NEW YORK, July 5.—(UP)—James Mattern and Bennett Griffin, two army fliers from the southwest, hopped off today on the first leg of a flight planned to beat the round the world time of their friends, Harold Gatty and Wiley Post.

Their plane, a biplane, took off from Long Island at 5:01 a. m., E. D. T., heading for Harbor Grace, N. F., where the huge wing tanks were to be refilled.

POLICE RESERVES FIGHT HUNGRY MEN

CHICAGO, July 5.—(UP)—Police reserves battled with 200 hungry steel workers who sought to storm a relief depot in Kensington today.

The men, out of work and with hungry families, gathered in front of the relief station at 50 West 109th street, not far from the Pullman works, and shouted: "We want bread and meat."

The two policemen on duty sent in calls for aid. Lt. Garrett Coan dispatched a detachment of policemen and motorcycle officers. When the mob pushed the line back and started pelting bricks through the windows of the station, a call to downtown stations brought five squads of police in automobiles and a large detachment of motorcycle police.

The word was passed around that Roosevelt would seek to remove the fears of Wall Street by statements and activities early in the campaign. It was promised there would be nothing wild in the acceptance speech.

$60,000,000 PIRATE'S LOOT IS UNEARTHED

Treasure Hunting Expedition to Cocos Isle is Most Successful

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—(UP)—Optimistic investors in an expedition which has sailed from Panama City that pirate treasure worth $60,000,000 has been unearthed on Cocos Isle anxiously awaited further details today from their "investment."

Pieces of eight, gold and silver plate—in quantities exceeding the wildest dreams of fiction's soldiers of fortune—have been discovered, according to the cabled message of Capt. R. D. Adams, Lindsay, Calif., orange grower and a member of the expedition.

The expedition sailed from Vancouver, B. C., last February to seek the legendary treasures buried in Central America by "Captain Graham," a British naval officer who became a notorious pirate, preying on Spanish vessels. It was reported here today that Capt. Adams' cable was intended to be an assurance to persons along the Pacific coast who invested in the venture.

The cable "assurance" that the booty would net $60,000,000 caused a hint of suspicion here. It seemed too fabulous even to the speculative investors. Many of them were seeking further verification of their good fortune before committing the "Pond" like returns they may receive from their investment in the treasure hunt.

Finding of the treasure was made possible by use of an electric "divining rod" invented by W. S. Clayton, said Capt. Adams' message.

Like a taunt to another treasure hunting expedition of recent years,

CALIFORNIA BONUS ARMY AT NASHVILLE

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 5.—(UP)—Lack of food, gasoline and sunshine held back 200 members of a California bonus expeditionary force today from proceeding to Washington.

An orderly tented city sprang up on the muddy fairgrounds here as the rain-drenched contingent camped for the night, its supplies exhausted.

A caravan of trucks and automobiles arrived here in the rain Monday from Memphis. Other members of the army had taken freight trains out of Memphis for Washington.

The army faced a new problem today. A sound car containing loud speakers used in vaudeville shows along the route was temporarily disabled by rains. Using a light surf boat, worked through the night bringing the exhausted and frightened passengers ashore.

GOV. ROOSEVELT AND FOUR SONS PLAN VACATION

Will Leave Next Monday on Seven Day Ocean Cruise in 40 Foot Yawl

ALBANY, N. Y., July 5.—(UP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic presidential nominee, will don rugged clothes and go for a seven day ocean cruise next week with his four sons in a 40-foot yawl rented for $150, he announced today.

The governor said he planned to leave from "somewhere in New York City" early next Monday.

The boat will be completely manned by Roosevelt and his sons, James, Elliott, John and Franklin D. Jr. No one else will be aboard.

"We will do all our own navigating, cooking and washing," he said. "I'll act as navigator."

"For four years the four boys and I have been trying to get time to take such a trip and just before the convention we decided to finally take it," he said.

The yawl, which will accommodate only five persons, will travel through Cape Cod canal, then up to the eastern seaboard to Portsmouth, N. H.

The party expects to return to New York the following Sunday.

Roosevelt expected to fish and swim and to completely forget the rigors of the presidential campaign which confronts him.

"The boys will stock the ship with grub Sunday night and we will be prepared to leave early in the next morning—from somewhere," Roosevelt said.

He decided to conceal the point of departure so as to avoid crowds.

The governor, sitting behind his flower-bedecked desk in the executive offices, planned, he said, not to be here.

EIGHTEEN RESCUED OFF GROUNDED BOAT

SANTA MONICA, July 5.—(UP)—Eighteen persons were rescued early today from the grounded Yacht Virginia, off Long Beach, after they had drifted in the fog without food since Sunday.

The rescue took place at Trancas beach, four miles north of Point Dume, and 24 miles north of here.

The yacht, skippered by H. M. Walker, was chartered Saturday to take the party to Santa Cruz Island. Saturday night they became lost in the fog and ran out of fuel.

All day Sunday and Monday the craft drifted helplessly until it grounded on a reef off Trancas beach last night.

E. H. Carroll, captain of the county lifeguards, and Guards Warren, Miller, Kozel and Ranney, using a light surf boat, worked through the night bringing the exhausted and frightened passengers ashore.

Governor is Relieved of Duties After Impeachment Session

CHIHUAHUA, Mex., July 5.—(UP)—Federal troops patrolled the streets of Chihuahua today as the result of demonstrations which followed the ousting of Governor Roberto Fierro, Monday.

Fierro, former El Paso, Tex., garage mechanic, who through his exploits as an aviator, rose to high political power in Chihuahua was removed from the gubernatorial chair by the state senate.

His impeachment came suddenly at a special session of the legislative body.

Deputy Ignacio Salido was appointed.

DIRIGIBLE JOINS IN SEARCH FOR YACHT

NEW YORK, July 5.—(UP)—Uncle Sam's giant dirigible Akron was ordered out today to search for the yacht Curlew, missing since June 25 with six persons aboard.

More than 100 ships have been seeking the white ketch which disappeared during the 625 mile yacht race from Montauk point to Bermuda.

Fear was felt in shipping and yachting circles that the trim vessel, encountering the bad weather, was being tossed by the other yachts in the race, may have foundered with all hands.

The Akron was to leave the naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J., today and will fly in circles along the course taken by the missing craft in an effort to locate it from the air in case it is still floating.

Mother Of Local Man Is Killed

Woman Run Down by Train at Beach While Searching for Lost Child

TWO WOMEN LAY DEAD in the county today as the result of Fourth of July accidents, one caused when two automobiles collided, the other when a woman was struck by a Pacific Electric train. The death toll from traffic accidents in Orange County for the year this far totals 46.

In spite of the fact that traffic through Orange County over the holiday period was the heaviest in the history of the county, according to Capt. Henry Moskus, traffic crashes were fewer than in many years in the past, according to a check made of hospitals and police stations.

California highway officers worked double shifts yesterday, many being on the road almost 24 hours in an effort to keep down fatalities and their work was shown by the falling off of the number of accidents.

Mrs. C. Wentworth, of 2100 East 118th street, Springdale, in Los Angeles county, was instantly killed at 8:25 p. m. yesterday when she was hit by a Huntington Beach bound Pacific Electric train, near Huntington Beach.

She was walking along the tracks at the time and apparently did not see the approach of the train, according to a report made here. Mrs. Wentworth went to the beach yesterday with her family to enjoy the vacation period. The family had been picnicking on the beach and were preparing to return to their home. One of her grand children wandered off, and Mrs. Wentworth had left the group and was walking along the track in search of the child when the accident occurred.

The body, badly mangled, was removed to the Dixon funeral parlors where it was taken charge of by Coroner Earl Abbey. An inquest was held today.

THIRTEEN KENTUCKY RESIDENTS KILLED

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 5.—(UP)—Guns took 13 lives in Kentucky over the holiday.

Most of the killings were caused by "fits of passion." One officer and his companion were killed by bullets which tore into their bodies from underbrush, fired by enemies who were not seen. One woman was among the victims.

Fights and "grudges" and, in one case, a domestic quarrel lay behind the killings.

ROOSEVELT MAY BE GUEST AT OLYMPICS

LOS ANGELES, July 5.—(UP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic nominee for the presidency, has been corresponding with William May Garland, chairman of the Olympic Games, regarding a possible visit here during the Olympiad, it became known today.

Olympiad officials were expecting definite word from Governor Roosevelt this week.

They said that a visit from John N. Garner, speaker of the house of representatives and Democratic vice presidential nominee, was practically certain.

Heart Pierced By Knife; Boy Will Live

MONTREAL, July 5.—(UP)—Robert Shepherd, 8, was alive and on the way to recovery today with his heart, punctured by a penknife, stitched together in a delicate operation by Dr. J. H. Condon.

The boy fell on the knife while playing. The knife pierced the wall of his chest and penetrated the right ventricle.

Robert was rushed to a hospital where the wound was closed and the operation was followed by a blood transfusion.

Revised Wagner-Garner Bill Will Be Order of Business in House Tuesday

Speaker Garner Says He Has No Hope of Overriding Veto, in Such an Event

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(UP)—

Indications of a presidential veto increased today as the revised Wagner-Garner bill proposing expenditure of $2,100,000 to relieve unemployment was reported to the House and Senate.

Republican Leader Snell of the House gave assurances, however, that some sort of relief measure would be approved and signed. If the President vetoed the Wagner-Garner bill and Congress adjourned, Snell said, Mr. Hoover "will call us back in session within 24 hours to pass a relief measure."

Snell spoke after returning with Mr. Hoover from a holiday week end at the presidential camp on the Rapidan. He professed to be uncertain whether the President would veto the Democratic program, but his declaration regarding the possibility of a special session was taken as a strong indication that the measure is still unacceptable to Mr. Hoover.

Representative Treadwell, Republican, Massachusetts, was the sole member of the conference group of eight to dissent from signing the conference report.

Today's action was a mere formality, as an agreement on the compromise measure had been reached Friday. The bill, according to Representative Rainey, Democrat, Illinois, will be brought up in the House for action tomorrow.

Senator Norbeck said the final draft of the unemployment relief program was changed only in certain details.

CITY MANAGER OF SAN DIEGO OUSTED

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 5.—(UP)—H. H. Esselstyn, city manager of San Diego for the past 45 days, was suspended from office by the city council today pending a formal hearing of charges of inefficiency.

Esselstyn, it was charged, failed to properly reorganize the city offices as he had promised, and instead of cutting expenses, drew up a budget for the current fiscal year much greater than that of last year. Formal charges will be preferred later.

He formerly was public works commissioner of Detroit, and at one time was a candidate for mayor of that city.

WILL ROGERS says:

NOWATA, Okla., July 5.—(To the Editor of The Register.) The Democratic convention was a victory of the country boys over the city slickers. New York and Chicago come there thinking that on account of being uneducated Tammany was no more for Smith than Smith is for Tammany. Well, they thought they would be in a position to stop Roosevelt, sell out to the highest bidder and go home driving the bandwagon. Great idea. All that went wrong with it was that the old orange squeezers from California thought of it first. Sold out and was on their way west with the loot before New York and Chicago gigolos could get their cards marked. It was a lesson in rural politics.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PROHIBITION PARTY GATHERS IN CONVENTION

Hoover Denounced as Most Conspicuous Turncoat Since Arnold

INDIANAPOLIS, July 5.—(UP)—A party standard bearer and a platform on which to rally the nation's dry support were sought by the Prohibition party in convention here today.

After the keynote speech by Dr. Clinton N. Howard, Rochester, N. Y., temporary chairman, and organization of the convention, the resolutions committee went into session to debate platform proposals.

Arthur Barnhart, Chicago, commander of the Saracens, a group fighting prohibition repeal, was scheduled to address the platform committee.

Meanwhile delegates, who numbered approximately 400, awaited word from Senator William E. Borah, Rep., Idaho, regarding his decision on the presidential nomination. If Borah accepts the nomination, delegates predicted he would poll 10,000,000 votes in November.

Richard Cannon, son of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., was a delegate from California.

Three former presidential nominees will be principal speakers at the convention session tonight in Cattle Barn, Lima, O.; Herman P. Faris, Clinton, Miss., and William Varney, New York.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 5.—(UP)—Prohibition party delegates gathered today for their national convention with the denunciation of President Herbert Hoover as "the most conspicuous turncoat since Benedict Arnold."

Dr. D. Leigh Colvin, national committeeman, denounced the president in Cattle Barn last night and said Sen. William E. Borah of Idaho would poll 10,000,000 votes if he chose to run for president on the prohibition party ticket. He would, not say, however, what encouragement, if any, Borah gave him at their conference in Washington last week.

"The Republican wet plank means that Mr. Hoover, who approved it and whose close associates and appointees drafted it and whose advisors promoted it in their convention, is the most conspicuous turncoat since Benedict Arnold," Colvin said. "Four years ago he received an unprecedented majority because he stood for the maintenance and enforcement of the 18th amendment. Now he stands merely for the enforcement of that which his party is not committed to maintain. He has failed in performing his presidential duty."

LONG SPLINTERS IN BODY CAUSE DEATH

LINDSAY, Cal., July 5.—(UP)—Long splinters of wood, driven into his body when he slid down a ladder in play, today had caused the death of Hiroshi Okazaki, five-year-old son of a Strathmore Japanese farmer.

An autopsy revealed that one long splinter had pierced the boy's heart. Others were removed from his liver and stomach.

The accident occurred June 33. He was brought to a hospital here June 25, when splinters three inches long were removed from his liver. At that time, it was believed he would recover.

quest has been tentatively set for 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

No blame has been placed against the operators of the train. J. E. Beasley, conductor, and L. Marshall, motorman, both of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Emma Turner, 64, mother of L. M. Turner, owner of the Turner Radio company here, died in the Fullerton general hospital last night of injuries received Saturday night when the car in which she was riding with her husband, overturned in Fullerton after colliding with another car.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner were on their way to Santa Ana from their home in San Bernardino to spend the holiday season with their son at the time of the accident. Their car collided with a machine driven by A. D. Hawkins, of 525 Fern Drive, Fullerton. No one in the Hawkins machine was hurt.

Mrs. Turner suffered internal injuries, resulting in death. The body was taken to the Winifred Funeral home in Santa Ana and an inquest probably will be held tomorrow afternoon, according to Coroner Earl Abbey.

Besides her husband and son she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Bon Fillo, of Angels Camp, Cal., and Mrs. Ona Reubensamen of Pomona.

Harry W. Smith, 29, of 727 Garey avenue, Pomona, was the victim of a peculiar automobile accident at Cypress at 10:30 a. m., Sunday, according to a report filed with the California Highway Patrol.

As he was driving his car through Cypress, someone threw a bag of dirt, weighing seven pounds, at the car. The bag struck the windshield, causing glass to cut Smith about the face. He was given first aid treatment.

Dr. E. M. LaShelle, 30, of Pasadena, was reported slightly injured yesterday when a car he was driving collided with a machine driven by G. W. Hammond, 26, of 1447 Chestnut street, Long Beach. The accident occurred in the Santa Ana canyon.

Betty Thomas, 4 years old, of Downey, was treated at the Orange county hospital yesterday for injuries received in an automobile accident in Orange. She was cut about the mouth and face.

MIDDLEWEST SWEEP BY SEVERE STORMS

(UP)—Violent storms swept sections of the midwest last night and today, causing eight deaths, injury to an undetermined number, and property damage that ran into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Three persons perished in a tornado that tore across rich farming country near Washington, Kansas.

Two motorists were drowned and a pedestrian, blinded by the rain, was killed by an automobile near Kansas City.

A tornado overtook a family of four as they ran to a storm cellar near Hubbell, Neb., killing the mother.

A man was drowned at Topeka, Kansas, attempting to rescue his dog from a flood swollen creek.

pointed governor protest by the senate.

When the committee from the senate walked into Fierro's office he said:

"I know what you want. I am glad you want to put someone else in my place for I certainly do not want it."

Senate leaders refused to discuss the charges which led to Fierro's removal from office.

The former mechanic's private plane at the El Paso airport was attached by Mexican officials to prevent him leaving Chihuahua.

Fierro was appointed governor by federal authorities to replace Andres Ortiz, who was ousted October 30, 1931. At the time of his appointment, Fierro was hailed by Chihuahua residents as a liberator who would free them from the virtual bondage in which they had been held by Ortiz.

His induction into office was accompanied by public demonstrations throughout the state.

Fierro won military fame during the ill fated Escobar revolution in 1929 when he bombed a rebel ammunition train and routed a formidable rebel contingent. He also performed other notable deeds during the revolution.

He became the idol of Mexico overnight after he made a Mexico to New York flight.

have any political conferences for the entire week—just rest and relax.

Sources close to Roosevelt declared, however, that should Mayor James J. Walker of New York City, answer charges filed against him by Samuel Seabury, counsel to a joint legislative committee which investigated New York City's government, the governor would take document on the trip and spend much time scrutinizing it.

Prior to announcing the trip, Roosevelt said he conferred last night with Speaker John N. Garner of Texas by telephone.

They discussed plans for Garner's official notification. A definite date for the ceremony will not be set until after congress adjourns.

The notification, it was said, probably will take place in Washington, although Texas has been given some consideration.

Roosevelt made plans to remain in communication with the press during the trip after reporters agreed not to "dog" his footsteps.

"If you do," he said bluntly, "I will simply give up the trip and return to Albany."

He finally agreed to permit a press boat to follow him, remaining two miles behind. Regular press conferences during the day would be carried on as usual.

"I don't want anyone around while I am swimming and fishing," he smiled. "Anyway, it might bother the fish."

A motor boat would be used to communicate between the press and the governor.

The New York executive indicated that the boat would pull into harbors at intervals and that stops probably would be made along the route to obtain supplies.

"Who is going to be the skipper?" a reporter asked.

"I guess we will all do a little of it," he answered.

HUNGRY BONUS ARMY PARADES IN WASHINGTON

Washington, July 5.—(UP)—The hungry regiments of the bonus expeditionary forces moved on the capital today in a parade which the senate to vote for immediate payment of the bonus.

Walter W. Waters, their commander, was in New York City, with an airplane in which he hoped to bring back provisions to feed an army whose supplies are desperately low.

Most of the veterans who marched out of their camps this morning were on short rations and those who were fortunate enough to get their breakfast had only corn meal, beans, and watery coffee. Mile after mile of them paraded through the streets, held in line by their own military police who swung clubs and sticks as outward signs of their authority.

The strange army broke ranks when it reached the capitol and congregated around Harold Foulkrod, their legislative representative. "Do you want me to make you a real speech of a patriotic speech?" Foulkrod shouted.

"A real one," his comrades replied.

"All right, how many of you are going to vote for Hoover?"

There were loud boos.

Men carrying signs reading "We're here to stay until we get our bonus" and "The bonus and we don't mean maybe," moved restlessly through the crowd.

Foulkrod went on with his speech shouting phrases that have become threadbare with use in the five weeks the veterans have been camped here. Dogs, wearing signs "Barking for the Bonus," scampered up and down the capital steps. One veteran and his wife pushed a baby carriage containing a smiling infant who waved a rattle.

A banner on the carriage read—"Our Next President." A Wisconsin unit waved a standard that said: "Milwaukee—the Beer City."

Even the veterans themselves seem to realize they were fighting for a lost cause. The senate rejected the Patman bonus bill after it had passed the House.

FEAR JOHNSON MAY SUPPORT ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(UP)—Senator Hiram Johnson, fiery Californian, had the Republican campaign managers on the anxious seat today. They feared he was about to come out definitely in support of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic nominee for president.

The California Republican long has been a bitter foe of President Hoover. He issued a statement praising Roosevelt in glowing terms for flying to Chicago to address the Democratic convention. But he declined to say specifically whether his statement meant that he would bolt the Republican ticket and support Roosevelt in the campaign.

$60,000,000 PIRATE'S LOOT IS UNEARTHED

Capt. Adams declared in his message that the richly laden chests were unearthed within 30 feet of the camp established by Sir Malcolm Campbell, famous British race driver, in his search of Cocos Isle for the buried loot.

Adams stated that removal of the fortune—believed to be the largest pirate treasure ever unearthed, if true—was being made under protection of the Costa Rican government.

Ground around where the spot where the treasure was found was honeycombed with the diggings of previous expeditions, said the cable, and there were indications that the pirates had diverted the course of a small stream in order to bury the loot in the creek bed.

Prohibition issue up before senate

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(UP)—The prohibition issue was brought sharply before the senate today, when Senator Barbour, Rep., N. J., formally moved to discharge the judiciary committee from further consideration of his resolution to repeal the 18th amendment.

Barbour urged prompt action on the question of repeal, and declared "we should not adjourn until we have acted."

He asked unanimous consent that the rule which would prevent a vote on the discharge request until tomorrow be set aside, so immediate action could be taken.

The request came as the senate chamber was almost empty and a quorum call delayed the decision on the unanimous consent proposal.

Senator Shepperd, democrat, Texas, co-author of the 18th amendment, objected to the granting of unanimous consent and the matter was automatically blocked.

SEEKING TO BEAT GATTY-POST RECORD

flares, are successful, they will set their plane down here again within eight days, 15 hours and 31 minutes.

Weather reports earlier had indicated good weather enroute, but just before the takeoff it was learned weather was good to Harbor Grace, but stormy over Scotland.

The fliers planned to leave Harbor Grace as soon as possible in a direct flight to Berlin. If they fall that, they hope to reach Ireland. Their plane's cruising radius is 3100 miles.

They carry the good will of Post and Gatty, as well as the gas tanks from their world circling plane. And their flight, like that of the Winnie Mae, is financed by Oklahoma oil men, although the plane is owned by Mattern.

The backers are Henry E. Turner, Oklahoma City, and John Macdonald, Tulsa.

The two fliers have high hopes of beating the record, because the Winnie Mae carried only one pilot and one navigator—making time out for sleep necessary to the pilot.

Both Mattern and Griffin are pilots. And both are navigators, although not considered so proficient as was Gatty, regarded as the finest in the country.

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT

As you look ahead there seems only silence and an aching void. You feel helpless and well-nigh desperate in your longing for some hint of the certainty which you long to have regarding the future.

At length out of that very silence is born a conviction which brings gladness and the warmth of life. You cannot describe it but you know that it is real.

A new strength and courage wells up in your heart and you go forward with confidence that all is well with your dear one in Paradise and that God will sustain you as you manfully strive to do your duty well.

HOLLAND—July 5, 1932, at his home, 1419 West Fifth street, James A. Holland, age 75 years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary A. Holland; six daughters, Mrs. Katherine Obarr, Miss Fay Holland and Miss Effie Holland and Mrs. Maud Sebastian, all of Santa Ana; Mrs. Leona Sebastian, of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mrs. Mary S. Encoe, of Los Angeles, and two sons, Clyde G. Holland and Elmer E. Holland, of Santa Ana. Announcement of funeral later by Harrell and Brown, 116 West Seventeenth street.

TURNER—At the Fullerton hospital, July 4, 1932, Mrs. Emma Turner, aged 64 years, of San Bernardino. She is survived by her husband, John B. Turner; a son, L. M. Turner, of the Turner Radio company, Santa Ana, and two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Bon Fillo, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Mrs. Ona Reubensamen, of Pomona. Services are to be held from the Winbiger funeral home, 409 North Main street at a day and hour to be announced later.

(Funeral Notice) NORTON—Funeral services for Mrs. Marie Norton, who died July 3, will be held Thursday, July 7, at 2 p. m., from Smith and Tuttle's chapel, Interment Fairhaven cemetery, the Rev. W. J. Hatter officiating.

LETTER POINTS OUT POSSIBLE INTEREST RAISE

A plea from the city of Newport Beach for financial aid in meeting interest payments on street bonds and advice from James Anderson, investment counselor, against allowing cities to default in bond payments were received today during the morning session of the board of supervisors.

The city of Newport asked the county to appropriate $25,000 from the gasoline tax fund, under the law that permits this appropriation for the purpose of maintenance and repair of roads. The money would be used to pay interest now defaulted on the Corona del Mar bond issue.

In the resolution, adopted by the beach city council and sent to the board of supervisors, it was pointed out that the beach city council has never asked nor received money from the gasoline tax fund and that the request was made this year due to the fact that the majority of city funds are tied up in the Newport banks now in the process of liquidation.

The request was ordered received and filed, with Chairman John Mitchell, of the board saying that if there was any way to help the beach city he would favor it as that community is in financial difficulties through no fault of the administration or the people. He deplored the fact that the law does not permit this help.

Anderson, in his letter to the board warned against permitting any community in the county to default in bond payments this year. He pointed out that default of city bonds not only would impair the defaulting city's credit but that of the entire county and force a higher rate of interest for future bond issues.

The text of his letter follows: "Permit me to say a word as regards the use of gasoline tax money to prevent bonds by a municipality of this county from going to default.

Because I have spent the last 10 years in the security markets, I feel competent to warn of the damage that will fall on this county if we allow any municipally guaranteed obligations to our larger cities to default.

"This county and the political subdivisions have a very high credit rating permitting us to borrow money cheaply. The buyers of municipal obligations

Firecracker Explosion Costs $10

James M. Murphy doesn't like giant firecrackers. Especially when they explode right under his feet.

It cost James A. Mortenson, 31, of Los Angeles, $10 to throw a "big fellow" under Murphy's feet at Laguna Beach yesterday, for Judge M. Lestrang decided that although folks were permitted to do a little celebrating, throwing giant firecrackers around without due regard for others constituted a violation of the city's ordinance, and fined Mortenson.

watch the records of solvency very closely. Some sections of this nation have allowed defaults to occur, and then for 50 years thereafter, have had to pay one percent more interest for money. It is false economy to allow defaults if they can be prevented. You cannot damage the credit of the municipality in question without damaging the credit of the county as a whole. I know that buyers of municipalities are that way.

"This is an emergency. It may be a calamity. You have the emergency power to prevent it, I am told. It appears most urgent that you use it this time. You may not be aware of how dependent you are on a good credit rating. Defaults of this type if you allow them to occur may force the market price of Orange county securities to fall from 100 to 80 percent.

"The nature of the impending default is due-interest on street improvements in this city. You hold tax money collected from the people in this city for street improvement purposes. That fund could be used for this purpose. One way to ultimately reduce taxes in this county is to retain the solvency or our credit. At the present moment in this unexpected emergency you are the only ones that can do that."

PIONEER OF STATE DIES AT HOME HERE

James A. Holland, 75, a resident of Santa Ana for the past 20 years, passed away at his home at 1419 West Fifth street last night after an illness of several months duration.

Holland came to Santa Ana from Garden Grove, where he operated a ranch for seven years. He went to Garden Grove from Riverside county where he had lived since coming to California in 1886.

Two years ago Holland and his widow, Mrs. Mary A. Holland, who survives him, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Besides his widow, he is survived by six daughters, Mrs. Katherine Obarr, Miss Fay Holland, Miss E. C. Holland and Mrs. Maud Sebastian, all of Santa Ana, Mrs. Leona Sebastian of Phoenix, Arizona, and Mrs. Mary S. Encoe of Los Angeles; and two sons, Clyde G. Holland and Elmer E. Holland, both of Santa Ana.

Funeral services will be held from the chapel of the Harrell and Brown Funeral home, 116 West Seventeenth street, at a date to be announced later.

DANIEL E. ADAMS RITES THURSDAY

Last rites for Daniel E. Adams, 50, who passed away at his home, 274 North Grand avenue, Orange, this morning, will be held from the Gilgley Funeral parlors Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with the Rev. L. V. Lucas, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Orange, officiating.

Mr. Adams had been a resident of Orange for the past 13 years. He came to California 24 years ago from Detroit. He was a member of the Methodist church and of the Men's Bible class.

Survivors include two daughters, Clara and Bertha Adams, of Orange; three sisters, Mrs. Lydia Adams, of Orange; Mrs. A. W. Berry, Detroit, and Mrs. S. W. Wood, Woodstock, N. Y., and a nephew, C. H. Jeffries, Orange.

STILL POSSESSION CASE IS STARTED

Charged with possession of a still Charles Hicks went on trial today before a jury in department one of the superior court. Hicks was arrested sometime ago by deputy sheriffs at a place rented by him west of town, near Independence. The still, it is alleged, was found in a barn on the property.

Selection of a jury was accomplished in a short time and the prosecution started presenting its case. The first witnesses called by Assistant District Attorney S. B. Kauffman were Mrs. Ruby Horton and Mrs. Norma Barbazet, former housekeepers for Hicks.

Jurors hearing evidence in the case are: Ida J. Lake, William H. Bentley, Will C. Pearce, Harry G. Hadden, Henry Heying, R. O. Winckler, Henry R. Honey, Chester H. Gilbert, Mrs. Mary E. Taylor, Emile A. Boege, Flora Bell Lash and Maude M. Peek.

It was announced today by officials of the station.

USE 'CHUTES TO SAVE LIVES AS PLANE CRASHES

A Santa Ana woman and man yesterday leaped for their lives from an overturned plane over the Eddie Martin Airport at 8:55 o'clock last night, and escaped with minor injuries to tell the story.

The woman was Mrs. Evelyn Finster, of 314 Wakeham avenue, a student flyer, and the man was Arthur Jackson, chief instructor at the airport.

The plane was flying over the field crowded with a holiday gathering and Jackson was stunting at the time. Suddenly his control stick came loose and with the plane upside down, he found himself helpless to direct it. There was another stick in the rear compartment in which Mrs. Finster was riding, so Jackson unstrapped his safety belt in order to notify Mrs. Finster of the danger, he said.

As he did so, he fell out of the plane. Mrs. Finster, seeing Jackson leave the ship, immediately thought the ship was fouled and jumped to safety. Both landed in a bean field just north of the airport.

In the meantime the plane glided, upside down to earth, turning over when it struck. It was badly damaged but did not burn. It landed in a bean field north of the air field.

Jackson said today he was up 1000 feet at the time the stick came loose.

REPORT ONLY ONE FIREWORKS VICTIM

Orange county breathed more easily today, for the Fourth of July was over and there were no serious casualties from fireworks.

Check of the hospitals here showed that only one person was treated for injuries from fireworks, and this was a resident of Los Angeles county.

Robert Reimers, 14, of Burbank, was given first aid treatment at the Orange county hospital for a bad burn received in his right hand. A firecracker exploded before he could throw it out of a car in which he was riding, it was reported.

S. A. OFFICERS ARREST MANY OVER HOLIDAY

Yesterday may have been a holiday for most people, but not for the Santa Ana police department, which was kept busier over the holiday than at any time in the past year or more.

Several arrests made last night brought the total to 18 persons taken into custody over the three-day holiday, on charges of liquor possession, drunk, or some other offense in which liquor was involved, it was shown.

John Matkin, Los Angeles youth, arrested Sunday night after Chief of Police F. W. Howard and Captain Jess Hocking ran him down in his car on South Main street, and then charged him with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, was re-arrested yesterday charged with failure to appear to a traffic charge in the Santa Ana police court. The warrant for his arrest was dated on November 17, 1931.

Matkin also was wanted here on a check charge, but police said that friends of his had paid the amount of the checks and that that charge had been dropped.

EXPECT MANY WILL ATTEND PYTHIAN MEET

A record crowd is expected to attend a special meeting of the local Knights of Pythias lodge in the K. of P. hall here Wednesday night when delegates from a number of outside lodges are expected to attend, it was announced today.

Tom L. Hicks, state deputy grand chancellor, will complete his work here Wednesday night and has announced that a large delegation from Long Beach, his home lodge, will be present.

The rank of page will be conferred upon a class of candidates by the local lodge the same night. It is expected that the lodge will have continuous rank work from now until the first of the year.

A large group of local members will attend an open air page rank, ceremonial to be held Saturday night in the Redondo Beach bowl. Grand lodge officers and lodge members from all over the state will attend. The local delegation will be headed by Alfred Holford, district deputy grand chancellor from this district.

All Knights of Pythias in Santa Ana are invited by lodge officials to attend the meeting here Wednesday night and urged to attend the meeting in Redondo Beach Saturday.

Eleanor Ford, Freddy McKenzie, Ingraham Kinsey, Beverly Barrett and Gordon Wilson.

The hospital tent also was the headquarters for lost children, a number of whom were reported during the day.

Drs. Fred Earle and Melbourne Mabey were on duty all day at the tent and Mrs. Franklin Grouard, Mrs. Arthur Eklund, both graduate nurses, also were in charge.

BLACK STAR ROAD ORDERED CLOSED TODAY

Extreme fire hazards in the Santa Ana mountains in both Orange and Riverside counties, including the Trabuco district of the Cleveland National forest, have necessitated the closing of the mountain district, it was announced officially today by H. R. Valentine, federal district forest ranger.

In cooperation with the board of supervisors, the Black Star canyon road has been closed. A resolution was adopted by the board of supervisors this morning closing the road to public travel. The Black Star road is above the Santiago dam and goes to Corona.

The new Ortega highway, however, is open clear to Lake Elsinore, Ranger Valentine announced. Certain points in Silverado and Trabuco canyons where there are a number of canyons, are open.

Public camps have been opened three miles above San Juan Capistrano Hot Springs and are in good shape for camping, he said. Outside of these camp grounds, no fires or smoking is permitted, Valentine pointed out. The camps were built in cooperation with Orange county.

The mountains will be closed probably until late fall, when the rains start, Valentine said. The mountains were closed to protect the water sheds, he declared, and because of the dry conditions which are prevalent.

Police News

Harvey A. Pickering, 22, radio man with the Marine corps, was arrested at 4 a. m. today near San Juan Capistrano, by Joe Clever, member of the California highway patrol. The youth was brought to the Orange county jail, where he is charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

Lloyd Smith, 41, rancher, of Nineteenth street, Costa Mesa, was arrested at 4:30 p. m. yesterday by Undersheriff C. W. Riggles. The man was booked at the county jail on a charge of possession of liquor.

Two automobiles were reported stolen in the county here over the Fourth of July holiday. One was stolen at Irvine park, the other in Santa Ana. R. C. McMillan, local contractor, reported the theft of his car from a garage at 702 South Birch street and John Fugh, of 420 East First street said his car was taken from a place where he had parked it early yesterday afternoon at the park.

Police were called to the home of W. R. Waldren, 824 Hickory street, at 3:15 a. m. yesterday when Mrs. Waldren reported she saw two men enter her garage. The men were not found and nothing looked as if it had been disturbed, police reported.

Two headlights and a bumper were reported from a car owned by Mrs. Claude Wilson, of 117 West Eighth street, some time last night. The car was parked in front of the house.

The Only Candidate Who Is AGAINST PROHIBITION

I am not against rational temperance measures, but I am against Prohibition with its attendant bootlegging, racketeering and grafting, and its enormous revenue loss.

I intend to fight for and protect labor, agriculture and the independent business man.

It is my opinion that a manufacturer's general sales tax is preferable to one coming general nuisance tax which will take a few horses to death such as the struggling gasoline business, and will further harass our banks with its two cent tax on checks.

My slogan, past, present and future is: "AMERICA FIRST"

ASSESSMENTS GO TO BOARD FOR REVIEW

County assessment rolls and budgets for the various county school districts are due to be turned over to the county authorities today. County Assessor James Sleeper is scheduled to turn the assessment rolls for the entire county over to the board of supervisors late this afternoon.

After the books are received the board is scheduled to sit as a board of equalization, daily, for the next two weeks. Clerks in the assessor's office are busy today totaling the books and expect to have them ready before the office closes today.

By 5 o'clock tonight all district school budgets must be turned in to County Superintendent of Schools Ray Adkinson. Adkinson said this morning that all but six of the districts have already turned in their budgets. He said that he anticipates demands this year to be reduced approximately $500,000.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Anna Turner and Mrs. Ora Everhart, both of Brea, and two sons, W. D. Hoskins, Brea, and J. E. Hoskins, of Forestville, N. Y.

GIVE FIFTEEN PERSONS FIRST AID TREATMENT

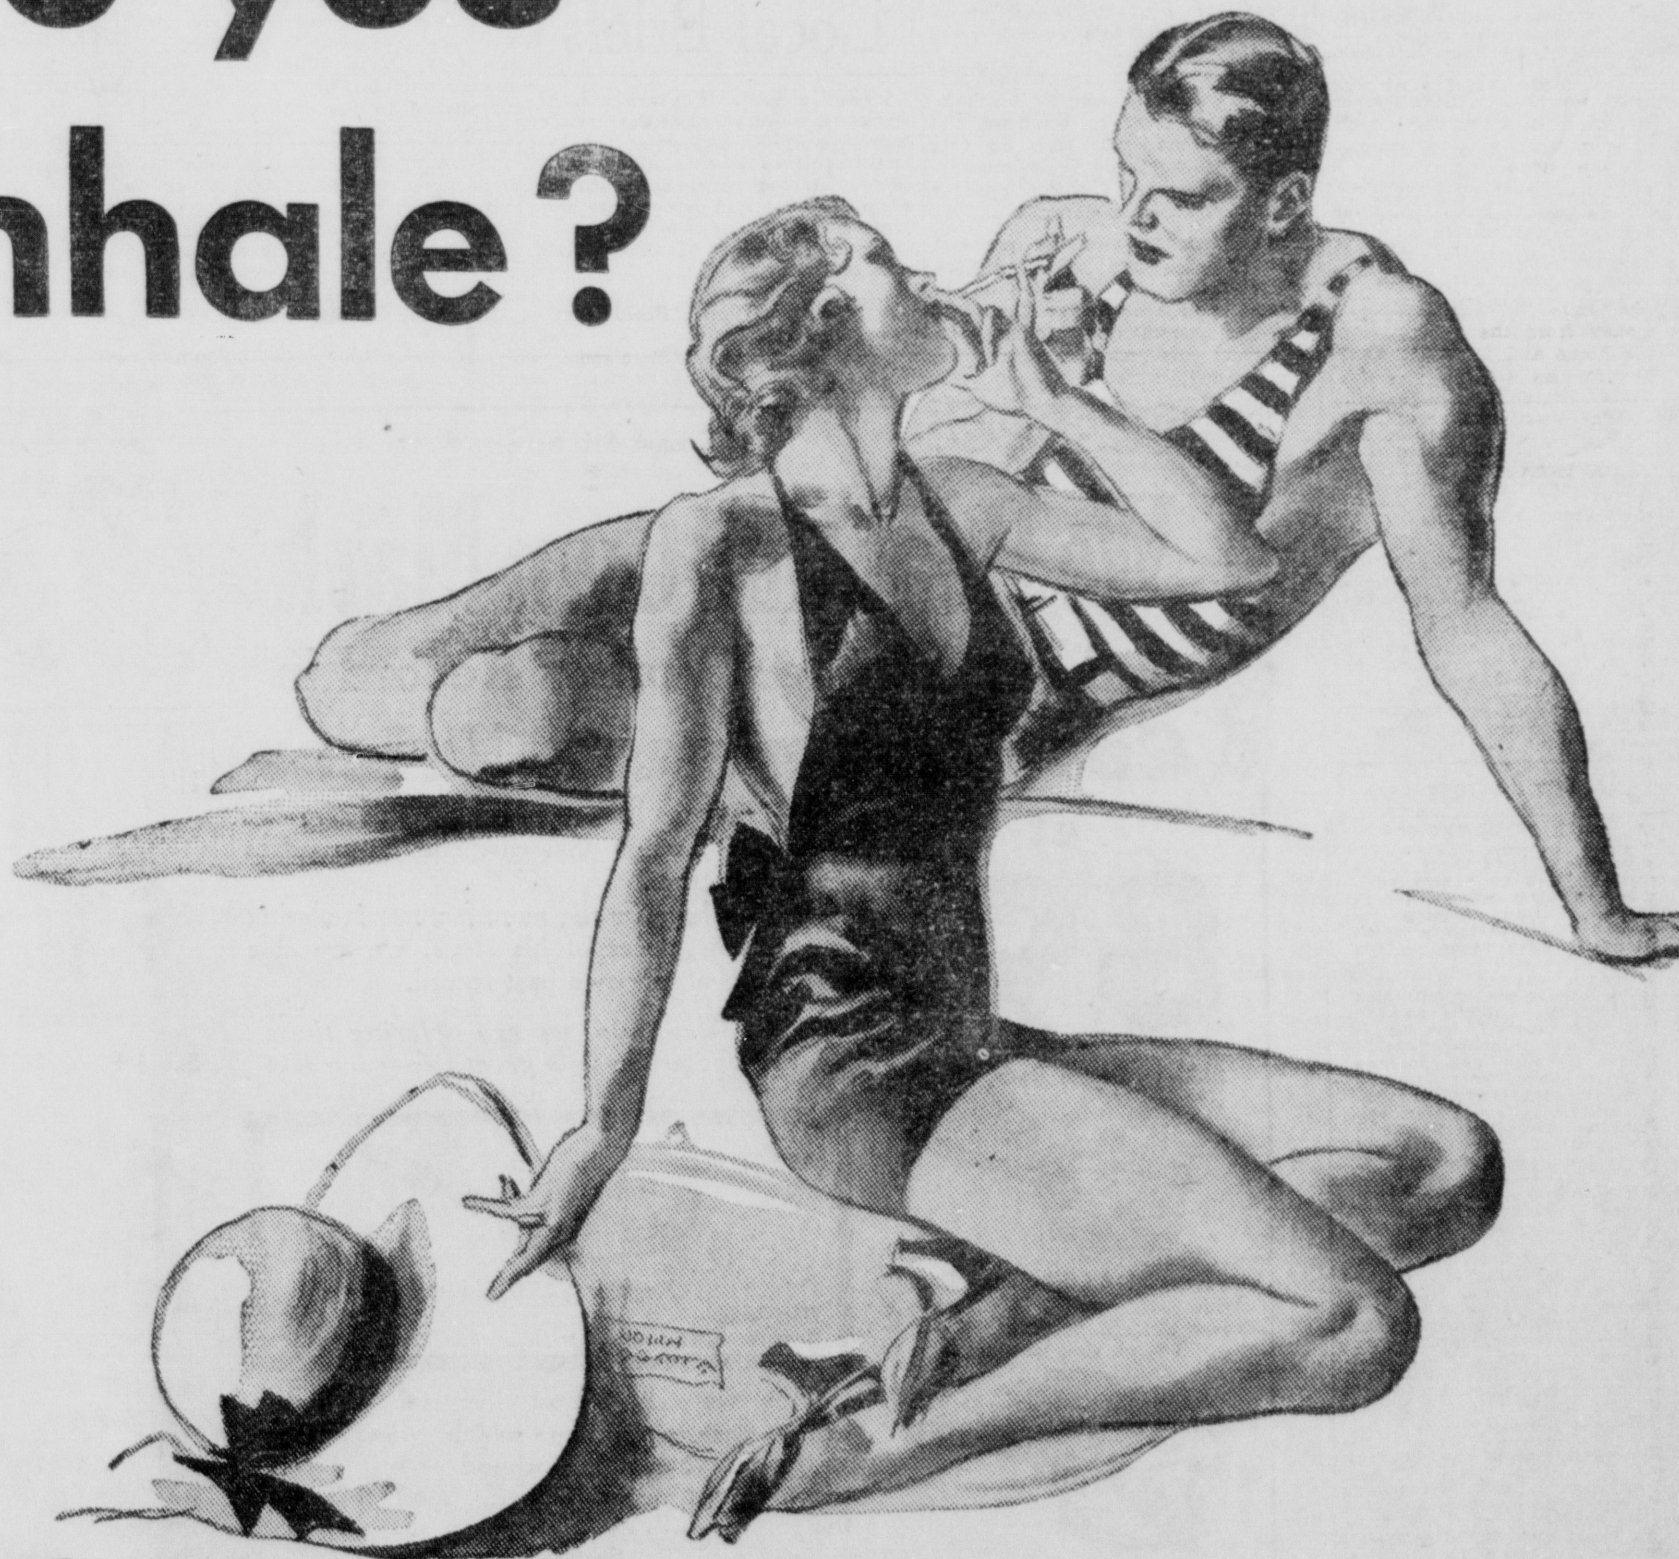

Fifteen persons, mostly children, were treated for minor injuries received at the picnic for the Santa Ana unemployed, staged at the Irvine park yesterday by the Santa Ana post of the American Legion.

The injured were treated at a hospital erected by the members of Company L of the 160th infantry and operated under the supervision of the Legion.

The hospital tent had no more than been opened before the "casualties" began to come in. Those who were treated, for bumps on the head, black eyes, wrenched backs and other minor hurts were:

A. Shepherd, Lydia Gerke, Robert Gerke, Marilyn Wetzel, Fern Taylor, Francis Forsberg, L. M. Harrison, Bennie Deckert, Katherine Chalmers, Tommy Kuykendall.

Do you inhale?

Luckies "make no bones" about this vital question

"KEEP that under your hat," said the cigarette trade when first we raised the question—"Do you inhale?"

But silence is golden only when it's unwise to speak. Let others explain their striking avoidance of this subject. Lucky Strike makes its position crystal clear... for certainly, inhaling is most important to every smoker.

For everybody inhales—whether they realize it or not...every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike "makes no bones" about this vital question because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

BENEFITS OF PROHIBITION ARE STRESSED

Facts concerning prohibition formed the basis for a forceful lecture on the subject which was delivered over KREG today by the Rev. Grover Ralston, of Yorba Linda, secretary of the Orange County Law Enforcement League.

The speaker quoted noted men in proving that prohibition can be a complete success. "The cost of alcohol," he declared, "in human life far exceeds that of war, and the victims of alcoholism do not die out; they drag miserably through a sick life, and transmit their decay to following generations."

"The wets claim that the return of beer would bring prosperity and remove unemployment. Germany has the beer. Why has it not prevented economic chaos in Germany? Germany and Great Britain have the largest breweries in the world running full blast. Why didn't President Hindenburg order more beer? Why didn't Ramsey MacDonald turn to the brewing interests for aid instead of appealing to the United States? One answer is that the people of both these countries are spending enough money for beer to pay the national debt."

Use of Grain

"The wets claim that the return of beer would enable the farmer to sell his grain and thus bring about prosperity. United States government figures show that but a mere fraction of one per cent of the wheat in the nation was used by brewers and distillers at the peak year before prohibition; less than one per cent of the wheat was used and slightly over one per cent of the corn was used. Thirty-two per cent of the barley was used but government states that when legitimate brewing and distilling ceased, the production of barley was diverted to other crops so that the chief crops for which market would be found by opening the breweries would be oats, corn and wheat. Under prohibition, the average consumption of milk has increased from 754.8 pounds to 967.3 pounds. To produce the increased milk consumed would require more grain than was used by all brewers and all the distillers before prohibition."

"The wets propose meeting the unemployment situation by the return of beer — to provide employment for labor. The brewing interests have never been large employers of labor like the automobile and steel industries. In the peak year before prohibition the total number of men employed by the breweries was $6,914."

Means Less For Labor

"The return of beer would mean less milk for the kiddies, less money from the pay envelope for the home and for savings, more beer for the laboring man and more money for the brewers."

"When we had beer the great

BLAST KILLS ENGINE CREW

When the locomotive of the Capital Limited, crack Baltimore & Ohio passenger train, exploded near Pittsburgh while speeding to Chicago, both members of the engine crew were killed, wreckage was scattered over a quarter of a mile area and 50 sleeping passengers jarred from their berths. Here's all that remained of the locomotive.

central power was the brewery. It owned saloons, planted new saloons in new places, advertised and gave away samples, sought new recruits and brought the saloon business into direct partnership with gambling and prostitution.

"The return of beer would open the flood gates of modern advertising to the liquor interests. Advertising is now closed to them."

"What about racketeers? Whenever an article of commerce is restricted or prohibited by law, the criminal classes seek to make money by evading the law. Racketeering is no new thing to American cities. For a hundred years New York has been plundered by racketeers, then called gangsters. Racketeering on its present gigantic scale is an aftermath of the World War, and whether this country is wet or dry, it will continue until stamped out by the law observing forces of the nation. It is 'beer logic' that would advocate repealing a law because that law is being evaded. The correct answer is given by the United States authorities in dealing with Al Capone."

COULDN'T DARE GEORGE

PORTLAND, Ore. — Years ago Mayor George L. Baker got a reputation as the champion oscillator among mayors when he greeted Mary Garden with a hug and a kiss. Mrs. Carrie Asher recently brought a complaint to council and voiced her opinion about the mayor. "There's another thing I want to complain about, Mayor Baker," she said. "I've come into the depot here dozens of times and you've never been there to greet me with a kiss." Gallant George promptly left his seat and planted a kiss on the mouth of the surprised woman.

PASTOR HELPS IN BUILDING CHURCH

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—After welding a shovel, and running a hauling truck from morning to night for two years to help build his $300,000 Methodist church at Webster Hills, St. Louis, Rev. Edward W. Potts, a graduate of Boston University's school of theology, will soon hold his first service in the church.

Declining posts in two well-established churches, Potts, who is 28 years old, selected a vacant lot on which to build his own church and realize his dream of a lifetime.

More than 100 people already have joined his congregation which is augmented by a Sunday school of 50 children and a flourishing people's society. During building of the church, regular services have been held in a temporary chapel.

Potts is well known in Boston church circles for his active student preaching which kept his spare time well filled during his student days. Following his graduation in June, 1929, excellence in scholarship sent him to Heidelberg, Germany. Early in the fall of 1929, he came back to go to the middle west and accepted a pastorate with no pulpit.

The diameter of Betelgeuse, star in the heavens, is variously estimated from 200,000,000 to 300,000,000 miles.

BAND CONCERT AT PARK WILL HONOR SOUSA

The second of the series of summer concerts given by the Santa Ana Municipal band will be given Thursday evening, July 7, at 7:30 o'clock in Birch park. The program will be held in honor of the memory of the dean of American bandmasters, John Philip Sousa, who died recently. At this concert programs will be distributed giving a complete sketch of the life and works of this noted conductor and composer.

Several of the works of Sousa will be played by the band; the famous march, "Stars and Stripes Forever" will open the program. This very popular number is said to have been the composer's favorite of some 200 marches which he gave to the world. Not as widely known, perhaps, but doubtless as well liked, is Sousa's suite entitled, "At the Movies"; this suite is divided into three parts, each characteristic of the early motion pictures and producing a most comical effect. Closing the program will be Sousa's last work written just before his death, "George Washington Bicentennial March."

The Funeral March, one of Frederick Chopin's works, will be played by the band in memory of John Sousa.

The great favorites of overtures, "Poet and Peasant," by Von Suppe, will appear as second number on the program. "The Mill in the Forest," by Elgenberg, is a characteristic number being featured by the band, adding variety and spice to the program.

The romance, color and mystery of the "Arabian Nights" stories will be reflected by the band in the waltz by J. Strauss, "Thousand and One Nights."

Climaxing the beauty of the concert will be the appearance of Robert Brown, one of Santa Ana's most popular baritone voices, who appears each year on the program of these summer concerts. Brown will sing that powerful number by Dix, "The Trumpeter." Because of its magnificence, this piece is particularly well adapted for the baritone voice and gives the singer ample opportunity to show his prowess.

BLACK CAT LUCK

PETERSBURG, Ind. — M. r. Charles Calt never thought much of the superstition concerning black cats and luck, but she does now. As she was stepping out of her smoke house door with a pan of potatoes, she stepped on a large black cat. The cat tripped her and she fell, breaking an arm.

MONTANNA TO SPEAK AT KIWANIS CLUB

D. L. Montanna, member of the Santa Ana Realty board, will be the featured speaker at the meeting of the Kiwanis club to be held in Ketter's cafe at noon tomorrow. It was announced today by W. B. Martin, secretary.

Montanna will speak on economics and will be introduced by Herb Allenman, who will act as chairman of the day.

Maurice Phillips, well known local vocalist, will sing a number of songs for the musical part of the program. The musical program will have Independence day and "Bastille Day" for its theme. W. J. Tway is the new chairman of the program committee. He will officiate during July, August and September.

ABOUT THAT 'SKY CAR'

WASHINGTON — Specifications on the U. S. S. Akron's "sky car" in which an observer will be lowered below the clouds while the dirigible rides above them, have been sketchily reported. It is said that the car's equipment will include a parachute and a rubber boat for the observer's use in case he has to leave his post. The car resembles a small airplane fuselage without wings.

BICENTENNIAL IS OBSERVED ABROAD

Three black walnut trees are now growing in Istanbul, Turkey, to the glory of George Washington. This announcement is made on the basis of information received by the United States Commission from the American Tree Association. A certified record of the planting of these trees was received by the association from Joseph C. Grew, United States ambassador to Turkey.

Among the eight million Bicentennial trees planted to the memory of George Washington, the three trees in Turkey are the first to be planted by a representative of the United States on foreign soil.

The new store has been modernized with the installation of new fixtures and decorations.

HISTORIANS TO HOLD PICNIC ON JULY 16

The regular monthly meeting of the Orange County Historical society was held at the Ebell club house last Friday evening.

The old time reminiscences of the city of Santa Ana, when it was a mere village 40 years ago, were related in papers read by Mrs. C. W. Burns read a very interesting and entertaining paper on "Personal Recollections of Santa Ana Forty Years Ago," and J. G. Quick read a paper on "Impressions and Reminiscences of Southern California and Santa Ana Forty-Five Years Ago." The experiences of these pioneers gave a glimpse of the early days of this city when it was a small town.

The society decided to hold a picnic at Anaheim park on July 16, 1932, at 5 p.m., to which all of the members and their friends are invited. It is expected at this meeting that C. C. Chapman and others connected with the early citrus industry will speak.

Late News From Orange And Nearby Towns

ORANGE UNION PREPARES FOR NEXT SESSION

ORANGE, July 5.—Members of the Orange W. C. T. U. will begin a busy month when they meet Tuesday afternoon of next week for a monthly meeting in the First Presbyterian church to carry on their campaign activities. At present they are making plans for their next meeting as well as for the conference at the Pacific Palisades July 26. All the unions of the county are to be represented at this session. During July and August the Orange union will meet only once a month.

In carrying out their dry program, members of the union have the support of educators and various men of note. Dr. W. A. Evans, former health commissioner of Chicago and health editor of the Chicago Tribune, states that most physicians agree that a man is drunk "shortly after taking his first drink." In this, Dr. James Ritchie, of Edinburgh, Scotland, agrees, saying, "Even in small quantities alcohol perverts judgment and weakens self-control."

Among other things, the W. C. T. U. states that prohibition has made liquor an outlaw, stopped liquor advertising, reduced arrests for drunkenness, made streets safer for women and children, shattered organized liquor's grip on politics; wiped out almost completely drink-made poverty; given millions of youth better chance for education; driven liquor from main street to criminal's hideout; killed the saloon with its public lure to drink; given the United States economic stability.

Dr. M. H. Vernon, of the Industrial Research Board, Belfast, Ireland, states that "One pint of beer taken by a motor driver causes a reduction of skill which may persist for three hours."

Captain Catoy of the California highway patrol, issued a statement to the effect that it was not only the man who was drunk that was dangerous to the highway, but the fellow who had taken only a few drinks.

Y BOYS PREPARING FOR SUMMER CAMP

ORANGE, July 5.—In co-operation with a group from Anaheim, boys of the Y. M. C. A. are completing arrangements for their summer camp session to be held July 19 to August 2 at Camp Oceola. The committee working with the Anaheim boys includes Herbert Douglas, chairman, and Ed Stanley, secretary, and Oliver Lester, Roy McCall, Eldon Murray, Almsworth Burkett, Roy Hull and William Fields.

About 80 boys from this city have signified their intention of attending the camp, and 10 more will be permitted to attend with the 40 boys from Anaheim. Arrangement has been made that Dr. James Houlouse, of Long Beach, is spending the summer at the camp, and will be the physician for the group.

Lutheran Group Convenes Tonight

ORANGE, July 5.—The Rev. A. C. Bode, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, and Miss Irene Schroeder and Miss Hertha Ehlen are to go to Los Angeles tonight to meet with a committee making arrangements for the international Walther league convention to be held in Los Angeles July 26-28.

The Junior Walther league of St. John's church postponed its meeting scheduled for this week to July 11.

Anaheim, Orange Clubs To Convene Wednesday Night

ORANGE, July 5.—When members of the Orange 20-30 club met Wednesday evening in the Woman's clubhouse, they will have as guests members of the Anaheim 20-30 club. The Anaheim club's regular meeting date fell on July 4 and so was postponed.

New officers of the local club, who were installed at last week's meeting, will preside. They include V. G. Wolfe, president; Roy Hahne, vice president; Clifford Swedberg, secretary; Walter Wacker, treasurer.

The club will meet for dinner at 6:30 o'clock.

PERKINS HOME IS SCENE OF PARTY

ORANGE, July 5.—An enjoyable family party was held in this city yesterday, when Mr. and Mrs. Seth Perkins were hosts in their home.

261 North Olive street. The occasion marked the birthday anniversary of one of the guests, Miss Estella Campbell, of Pomona, a sister of the hostess.

At 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon the luncheon was served at a table gaily decked with tiny flags and red, white and blue flowers. Canned dahlias and roses were the flowers used in the table decorations and in bouquets placed throughout the room as well.

A pretty birthday cake was served during the last course of the luncheon.

Those in the group were the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Seth Perkins; Roy Campbell and daughters, the Misses Josephine and Janet Campbell and Miss Estella Campbell, all of Pomona, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Shaw, of Long Beach.

ANAHEIM CITY PARK FILLED ON FOURTH

ANAHEIM, July 5.—Coming from all parts of Southern California and tourists from eastern points, found joy in visiting the city park with its beautiful grounds, playgrounds, theater and swimming pool over the weekend.

During the two days more than 1000 visited the park.

On Saturday and Sunday 274 persons took part in the water sports offered by the swimming pool facilities while on the Fourth of July 366 persons entered the pool.

Church Group To Aid Local Needy

ORANGE, July 5.—Holding their monthly meeting recently in the church, members of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Orange Mennonite church decided to do local mission work in the future, doing away with their assistance in the foreign fields for the present time.

In changing their line of work, members of the society are conforming to a plan being carried out by other churches of the conference. The Orange women expect to make various articles of clothing and distribute them among families where they seem to be the most needed.

At their recent meeting, the group spent much of the time trying to comforter. Devotionals for the day were in charge of Mrs. J. S. Sorenson, who based her talk on the 51st Psalm. The business session was in charge of the vice president, Mrs. J. M. Frieden.

The Missionary society will have its next meeting August 5.

ANNUAL SCHOOL BUDGETS GIVEN COUNTY OFFICE

ORANGE, July 5.—With school budgets to be filed at the county superintendent's office today interest is being shown in the decreased budgets which have been prepared by the school boards of this city.

The budgets represent a combined saving of $65,000 over last year's budgets for the Orange Union High school and the elementary schools. On the grammar school budget, a saving of $47,000 has been planned and it is quite probable that this saving will bring about a 15 cent cut in the elementary school tax rate, bringing it down from 90 cents to 75 cents for each $100 of assessed valuation.

The new budget of the Orange Union High school represents a cut of $18,000 from a tentative budget set for 1932-33. This year's budget totals $140,849. Last year's budget was $158,851.83. Teachers' salaries were slashed 10 per cent and this cut represents a saving of approximately $10,000. Teachers will receive this year the sum of $89,400, while last year they were paid $99,734.50.

Operation costs, supplies and the janitor's salary were cut to $14,600 from $16,332.90. The transportation was cut to $8179 from $9112.99. Library and text book purchases were cut from $5175.

In the elementary schools the budget set for this year is $55,000 while that of last year was set at $132,668. Last year a $22,000 building fund was included in the budget of 1931-32. No construction program is planned this year.

Five teachers were taken from the salary roll and a saving of $11,950 was made by this means and salary cuts.

Hearings on the budgets are to be held between July 15 and 19. The hearing on the elementary school budget will probably be held July 18 at the elementary school.

Harvard Graduate To Return Soon

ORANGE, July 5.—Having just been graduated with honors from Harvard Law school, Frank Watson, son of Mayor and Mrs. Clyde A. Watson, of Orange, is remaining in the east to complete his work on the restatement of the law of torts for one of the university professors.

Mr. Watson, accompanied by his roommate, Merritt Willis, of Philadelphia, expects to arrive in Orange in August. They plan to enjoy various trips in this state before beginning their business activities. Mr. Willis will return east to take up banking and Mr. Watson will go to Los Angeles about October 1 to become a member of the law firm of O'Melveny, Tuller and Myer.

SHOWS COSTS OF DEHYDRATOR OPERATIONS

Relative costs of operating different types of walnut dehydrators have been investigated by the division of fruit products of the University of California, according to Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg. The report covering the survey indicates that of the total number of walnut dehydrators now in operation in California, 133 are located in Ventura county, 120 in Los Angeles county, 83 in Orange county, and the remaining 97 plants are in Santa Barbara, San Joaquin, Contra Costa, Lake, San Bernardino, San Joaquin and Riverside counties. The 1930 investigations, on which report is made in bulletin number 521, were confined to Puente in Los Angeles county, Santa Ana in Orange county, and to the Ventura district, including Santa Paula, Satcoy, Oxnard and Oxnardsmith.

for all tests averaging $3.43 per dried ton, with $2.23 in gas-heated plants, $3.04 in oil-heated plants and $4.88 in electrically heated plants. Overhead costs for all tests adjusted to normal operating capacity averaged $3.61 per dried ton, with $2.44 in gas-heated plants, $3.47 in electrically heated plants and $4.57 in oil-heated plants.

Total costs for all tests averaged $7.15 per ton, with $5.59, $7.61 and $8.33 in gas, oil and electrically heated plants respectively. Thermal efficiencies averaged lowest in gas-heated plants and highest in electrically heated plants. Electric heat, in spite of its high efficiency, proved the most costly, although not so expensive as to be prohibitive in walnut dehydration where low energy rates may be obtained.

Copies of the bulletin, "Walnut Dehydrators: Characteristics, Heat Sources, and Relative Costs," may be obtained without charge from the College of Agriculture, University of California, Berkeley, or from the office of farm advisors in the various counties.

Camping Enjoyed By Boy Scouts Of Buena Park Troop

BUENA PARK, July 5.—Presenting a tired but happy appearance, Boy Scouts who enjoyed a camping trip to Sycamore Grove returned Monday. Exhibitions of camp cooking were given by their leader, Charles Shirley, under whose direction the trip was taken. Bathing and hiking combined with camp life provided a safe and sane fourth for the boys. Those enjoying the trip were Charles Shirley, leader; Bob Rittenhouse, assistant scoutmaster; Calvin and Jack MacAnear, Gerald and Clayton Rayburn, Laurence Robeson, Dwight Stewart, Ernest Walsh, Walter Melbourne and Bob and Jack Smith.

Roosevelt-Garner Club Planned In Spanish Village

SAN CLEMENTE, July 5.—Political leaders of the Spanish village have called a meeting for this evening at the San Clemente Golf clubhouse. It will be a non-partisan session at which Ole Hanson, old time Republican leader, will be asked to be chairman. The purpose of the gathering is to form the first Roosevelt-Garner club.

Hanson was elected to the house in the state of Washington on a Republican ticket; he was elected mayor of Seattle on a non-partisan ticket and was defeated for the U. S. senate while running on the Progressive ticket.

OLIVE, July 5.—Marriage vows were pledged by Miss Azelia Fairbairn and Frederick A. Guenther at the altar of St. Paul's Lutheran church July 1. The Rev. E. H. Kredt, pastor of the bridal couple, read the Lutheran single ring ceremony.

The bride was dressed in a blue silk gown. They were attended by Mrs. Rudolph Homan, sister of the groom, and Harold Fairbairn, brother of the bride.

The following members of the family were present at the ceremony: Mr. and Mrs. David Fairbairn Jr., parents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Guenther, parents of the groom; David Fairbairn Sr. and Miss Flora Fairbairn.

The bridal couple left for Yosemite valley to spend several days. They will make their home in the Olive-Anaheim boulevard in Olive.

25 Present For Old Time Party At Johnson Ranch

BUENA PARK, July 5.—An old fashioned two-day celebration was enjoyed by a group of relatives and old friends at the Johnson ranch. Barbecued beef roast with trimmings furnished a dinner for 25 guests at noon, dinner being served in the shade of a large pepper tree to those who chose to have lunch in picnic style, while some remained indoors. Bridal, an indoor ball game and hiking furnished entertainment for the afternoon, ice cream and cake being served by the hostess at 4 o'clock. After a merry evening a late supper was served to the guests.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Wendle and daughter, Dolores, of Ventura; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Lawrence and son, Richard; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lindquist, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cook and daughters, Misses Thorabell and Thelma, all of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Crump and sons, Harry Jr. and Jack; Mr. and Mrs. L. ## BIBLE CLASSES FOR CHILDREN OPENED TODAY

FULLERTON, July 5.—Children five to 13 years of age of Fullerton today started an eight weeks' course of religious and character training, the classes being held at the Presbyterian and the Methodist churches, and open to all children, regardless of denomination, in the city.

"The Trail of Everyday Living" is to be the theme of the Bible training classes, open from 9 to 10:30 o'clock each day. The programs have been so arranged as to provide activity for the entire day for the groups of children, and after the Bible training classes, a playground program will be conducted at the parks of the city, with classes in story telling, in athletics and hand work, being directed by various organizations of the city.

At the churches, Mrs. A. C. Bray, Miss Eleanor Reeve and Miss Mary Gurr are in charge, with groups of volunteer helpers, at the Methodist church, and Miss Dona Tanner, Mrs. C. W. Trotter and Miss Vera Stull in charge at the Presbyterian church.

The supervised playground activity is under direction of Arthur Johnson, supervisor of the grammar school playground program. Davis in New Mexico, where he is employed.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Lennon have left for a visit of several weeks in Oregon with friends and relatives.

A mountain party at Camp Angelus was enjoyed over the week end by Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Williams, Lovilla Williams, Jack Graham and Marguerite Williams, of La Habra; Mrs. Elizabeth Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Gearhart, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gearhart, of Montebello, and Allen Lindsey, of Redondo Beach.

A group of young people spent the week end in the cabin at Arrowhead of Mrs. Alice Wolfe, of Olinda. In the party were Mrs. Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Proud, of Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams (Doris Lee Mason) of Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hemmer, of Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. Norton R. Skinner, of La Habra; Mr. and Mrs. Chet Hawkins and Bill Hawkins, of Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cornwell, of Yorba Linda, and Miss Marie Wetton, of Placentia.

PLEASURE SEEKERS CROWD ORANGE COUNTY BEACHES; 10,000 PERSONS USE TENTS

Thousands of people from inland cities flocked to the beaches of the Orange county coast for the week end and holiday. It was estimated by police and traffic officers that 10,000 people were camped on the open beaches between Huntington Beach and Newport Beach, a stretch of six miles.

Every imaginable kind of tent and shelter was used by the beach visitors spending a night or two at the beach. Autos were parked on end for six miles along the shoulders of the Coast highway, which experienced its heaviest traffic of the present year.

Huntington Beach for the first time in 10 years did not put on a Fourth of July celebration for its guests this year. The municipal beach was thronged with bathers and the pier was lined with fishermen.

Deep sea fishing, golf, bare angling, a rodeo, surf and fresh water swimming brought a record crowd to the Spanish village. More people than ever before spent the three holidays in the city. Officers reported traffic the heaviest of the year.

UNIQUE SERVICE HELD IN CHURCH

BREA, July 5.—A unique service was held at the Christian church Sunday evening. The pastor, the Rev. Wesley Runyan, and the choir were seated in the choir loft after the manner of a Seth Parker service. As the choir members entered the auditorium they were greeted by the leader of the choir and seated around the stage while singing "The Old Rugged Cross."

The theme of the evening was "service and sacrifice" and illustrations were given by the members as called on by the pastor. R. Williams, a member of the choir, related experiences previous to the abolishment of the saloons, saying that in a small town where he lived, nearly every third door was a saloon in the business part of the town.

Hymns were introduced into the service in an informal manner, and a saxophone solo was rendered by Miss Marian Sullivan. The pastor's short talk revolved around the text, "Whoever will save his life shall lose it; but whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's, the same shall save it."

SCOUTS HOME FROM CAMP AT TRABUCO

COSTA MESA, July 5.—Boy Scouts of troop No. 4 returned yesterday afternoon from a three-day camping trip in Trabuco canyon. The week end including the Fourth was spent in outdoor camp activities, hiking, games and the exploration of an old mine and its equipment. This trip was a preliminary preparation for the regular summer camp trip to Rock Hill which the Costa Mesa troop will take later in this month.

Those taking this trip were Scouts Bill Greshner, Lenard Collins, Alf Pearce, George Hill, Howard Hill, Arthur Earle, Floyd Earle, Robert Alleman, Lester Smith, Willard Vile, Max Vile and Harold Boyd, and Troop Committeeman Frank Vile and Scoutmaster Lloyd Willcutt.

Mrs. Callie Potter Smith, Mrs. Frank Vile, Fred Vile and Bert Smith spent Sunday afternoon in the camp with the boys.

TWO NEWPORT BAY ROW BOATS STOLEN

NEWPORT BEACH, July 5.—Ralph Glukner, of Ontario, reported to police headquarters yesterday that his car had been rifled as it stood parked in the parking grounds here, a nickel-plated flashlight being taken among other things.

Mrs. C. A. Crandall reported the theft of all of the outside lights around her cottage on the bay front. A pair of blue swimming trunks also were taken.

Mar Casa on Balboa Island had two rowboats taken.

An all day meeting will be held in the Brea Baptist church by the woman's Missionary society Wednesday. The morning will be devoted to White Cross work, and after a potluck luncheon at noon a program will occupy the afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock.

ADD TO CHURCH CHOIR
WESTMINSTER, July 5.—Additional members have been added to the Westminster Presbyterian church choir. They include Bud Hare, Bill Turpin and Clifford Crane.

FRUIT CANNING WORK OCCUPIES JOBLESS GROUP

LA HABRA, July 5.—The canning of fruits is still in progress at the kitchen of the La Habra Cooperative Workers' association and Mrs. Garret Cypher, and her committee, Mrs. J. E. Robertson and Mrs. S. A. Kinney, are anxious that all women of the unemployed group or others who are willing to help, register so that they may be called upon when help is needed.

H. S. Hoard, of La Habra, reported at the recent meeting of the workers that he had attended a meeting in Fullerton of representatives from the various associations and it was the desire of this group that a central committee be formed for the distribution and exchange of food stuffs. President R. H. Phillips of the local association will appoint a committee from the local group to attend this representative gathering.

Mrs. H. P. Sutton reported that an insurance policy had been taken out on the commissary supplies.

Committees and chairmen include R. H. Phillips, as head of the commissary department, taking the place of J. Kuhn, who resigned; Ellis Cook, permanent chairman of the work committee, and J. E. Robertson, chairman of the music committee. Others on the music committee are E. B. Foster, Alton Shawman, John Stewart, Mrs. L. M. Huffman, M. C. Ficus and J. A. Stamps.

A benefit show will be held at the local theater Wednesday evening, with a part of the proceeds going to the organization treasury.

Parents Invited To Visit School

BREA, July 5.—Parents and friends of pupils of the Brea Vacation Bible school are invited to attend the school Friday at 11 o'clock. The enrollment of the school has already passed the 100 mark.

Boy Blinded By Home Made Cannon

SEAL BEACH, July 5.—Howard Padrick, son of Mrs. Ollie B. Padrick, was seriously injured when a cannon which he had made out of pipe and filled with powder went off in his hand. His eyes were powder burned, resulting in temporary blindness. A finger on his left hand was cut nearly off.

Charles Griffing, a friend from Los Angeles, was hit by the pipe when it exploded and also had facial injuries.

PROHIBITION TALK GIVEN IN CHURCH

MIDWAY CITY, July 5.—Two speakers were on the program at the Midway City Nazarene church Sunday. Mrs. E. I. Ames of Pasadena, a well known prohibition worker, speaking to the assembled Sunday school, while the evening service was taken over by the Rev. C. H. Kenna, Nazarene evangelist from Long Beach, who spoke on the subject of "Faith."

One child, Charlotte Pearl Janama, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Janama, of Silver Acres, was baptized by the pastor of the church, the Rev. J. J. Woodson, at the morning service.

Announcement is made of an all day meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the local Nazarene church Thursday. The women will hold this special meeting that three comforts which are designed for the purpose, may be finished.

The meeting of the church board is being held Wednesday evening, before the Bible study class convenes, the change in time from the regular first Monday evening in the month having been made on account of the holiday.

OLD WELL AT H. B. FLOWING 700 BARRELS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 5.—The Superior Oil company's Jones No. 1 well at Twenty-second and Ocean, a redrill job, is now flowing 700 barrels of oil a day and making a heavy production of gas. Superior put a compressor on the well and is flowing it with the compressor. According to oil men, this is the largest well ever obtained on a redrill job in the west end town lot section of the oil field.

The well was one of the first drilled in the town lot field five years ago. It has been a steady producer of oil at the rate of 100 to 200 barrels a day but recently the production dropped off until the well was not profitable. Superior drilled Jones No. 2 on the four lots of W. L. Jones and Jones No. 1 is on the same lots. Jones No. 2 was one of the big wells of the town lot field, flowing 1800 barrels a day when it first came in and gradually reduced the flow until today it is still flowing several hundred barrels.

W. L. Jones came to Huntington Beach from Colorado Springs, Colo., when oil was first struck here and bought 15 acres in the oil field. This tract was leased to Standard Oil and became the famous Jones lease, one of the best and most profitable oil leases in the field. Jones was a banker before he took the oil venture.

Because of new gas from the Superior Jones No. 1, the O. C. Field (Gasoline company) has increased its gas plant at Seventeenth and Palm, adding a unit to the plant. This unit will take care of all the gas in the town lot field, some of which was obtained by the O. C. Field company when the Richfield plant at Thirteenth and Palm was closed.

NOW ON DISPLAY V-8 LINCOLN V-12

The Lincoln Motor Company invites you to inspect and to drive the new Lincoln V-8 and V-12 cylinder motor cars. A representative of the company is now in attendance to supply you with complete information and to arrange for a demonstration.

The V-8, ranging in price from $2900 at Detroit, is a true Lincoln in every respect. It is now available at the lowest prices in Lincoln history.

The V-12, the finest car Lincoln has ever produced, is designed for those who demand the utmost in motor car transportation. Prices start at $4300—less than the former price of the Lincoln V-8.

Lincoln builds to a single standard of mechanical excellence. Both the V-8 and the V-12 are constructed of the same fine materials, with exactly the same precision methods, and with many of their various assemblies interchangeable.

We shall welcome the opportunity to make you better acquainted with these new Lincolns and to show you the outstanding value which each one represents.

This special showing is being held under the auspices of George Dunton, 810 North Main, July 6, 7, 8, inclusive.

HIGHER POSTAL RATES GO IN EFFECT TONIGHT

Balancing of the federal government budget will be brought home with force to residents of Santa Ana after midnight tonight when increased postal rates go into effect. Any mail which is in the local postoffice up till midnight tonight can be sent at the old rates. It was pointed out by L. C. Harvey, superintendent of mails at the post office.

Instead of the old price of two cents an ounce, all letters sent after midnight will cost three cents an ounce. Air mail letters will cost eight cents for the first ounce and 13 cents for each additional ounce. No changes have been made in the rates for special delivery letters, which remain at a regular price of 10 cents for a special delivery stamp plus the regular postage on letters.

Both the C.O.D. and insurance rates have been increased slightly. C.O.D. rates were announced as follows: 12 cents up to $10; 15 cents up to $20; 18 cents up to $30; 22 cents up to $40; 25 cents up to $50; 28 cents up to $60; 32 cents up to $70; 35 cents up to $80; 38 cents up to $90; 42 cents up to $100 and 46 cents up to $110.

New insurance rates were announced as follows: Five cents up to $5 value; 10 cents to $25; 15 cents to $50; 25 cents to $100; 30 cents to $200; 35 cents to $500; 40 cents to $1,000; 45 cents to $2,000; 50 cents to $5,000; 55 cents to $10,000; 60 cents to $25,000; 65 cents to $50,000; 70 cents to $100,000; 75 cents to $250,000; 80 cents to $500,000; 85 cents to $1,000,000; 90 cents to $2,500,000; 95 cents to $5,000,000; 100 cents to $10,000,000.

Registration Rates. Dramatic changes in the registration rates on first class mail, which included all letters and sealed packages, also will become effective after midnight tonight.

While in the past, Harvey pointed out, 15 cents would insure a letter on amounts up to $50, the new amount, after midnight tonight, will secure indemnity for but the value of all registered letters or packages declared by the sender, or the cost to the government of replacing them if lost. Air mail usually sent in this manner include currency, bonds, checks, etc.

Indemnity values were graduated from the $5 value up to $1000. Following are figures on the cost of registrations, with the first figure representing the cost to the sender.

The second figure the return registration: 15 cents to $25; 20 cents to $50; 25 cents to $75; 30 cents to $100; 40 cents to $200; 60 cents to $300; 65 cents to $400; 70 cents to $500; 80 cents to $600; 85 cents to $700; 90 cents to $800; 95 cents to $900 and one dollar for $1,000, the maximum amount allowed for registration.

When more than $1000 in value of registered mail is sent, a registration fee of one dollar and a zone

IRISH CHIEFS IN LONDON

Here's a cusp of President Eamonn De Valera (left) and Vice President Sean T. O'Kelly of the Irish Free State, reputed to be Ireland's staunchest Republican and bitter anti-royalist. They are shown at the entrance to 10 Downing street, London, after calling on Premier Ramsay MacDonald which resulted in tightening of the deadlock regarding Ireland's determination to abolish the oath of allegiance to the King.

4 BURGLARIES REPORTED TO AUTHORITIES

One burglary in Santa Ana and three in the county were reported for July 4.

Thieves entered the Nehl Bottling works on East First street here some time last night by prying open the back door. Twenty phonograph records, a radio microphone and a carbon microphone model were reported stolen. The loss was estimated at $50.

Thieves broke into the locked car of J. W. Blum, of Los Angeles, near Laguna Beach while he was in bathing yesterday and stole his trousers which contained a hand-some watch, $30 in cash and a pocketbook which contained a permit from the Los Angeles county sheriff to carry a pistol, he reported to the sheriff here.

The filling station located at the state highway and Katella road, operated by Ira A. Keffie, was burglarized last night and cigarettes and candy worth $15 were taken, the sheriff's office was told today.

Thieves broke into the office of the San Juan Capistrano hotel some time last night, Judge John Landell reported to the sheriff here, but nothing was reported stolen. The entrance was made through a rear window and fingerprints were found on the glass panes.

GIRLS ROBBED AFTER BEING 'PICKED UP'

Two Long Beach girls, Leona Koonter and Martha Spradling, learned last night that it doesn't pay to "step out" with strange young men.

They met three pleasant appearing youths in Long Beach and agreed to take a ride to Balboa. But instead of going to Balboa, the young men drove to the Newport Harbor Union High school, took a total of $5.50 from the girls and then forced them out of the machine.

Newport Beach police were furnished with a description of the bandits.

DEATH VALLEY CAVE

SAN FRANCISCO — In the sandy wastes of Death Valley, A. W. Plummer, photographer, has discovered a hitherto hidden cave. Plummer reports that the cave is located in the southern part of the valley and that it has a great circular opening 125 feet deep.

GILL ABANDONS IDEA OF CRASHING FILMS

BERKELEY, July 5.—(UP)—"Rusty" Gill, ex-football star of the University of California, ex-boxer, ex-laborer, and ex-extra movie actor, was home again today looking for new fields to conquer.

"I'm the best ex-extra in town," proclaimed Gill, explaining that he gave up his latest attempt to make money as a movie extra, to complete his law education because it was unprofitable.

"A football star can always become an ice man," he sighed, denying that he was discouraged in his unsuccessful attempt to crash the movies.

Fist Fight Draws Crowd at Beach

Following a fist fight on the Newport pier late yesterday afternoon, Barney McIlwain, of Newport Beach, was arrested on a charge of battery filed by Pat McGuire, who suffered injuries which sent him to the hospital for treatment. The fight drew a crowd of several hundred persons to the scene.

LOCAL PASTOR WILL MOVE TO SANTA BARBARA

ANAHEIM, July 5.—Following appointments made at the Southern California-Arizona Methodist conference held last week at Long Beach the Rev. Ralph W. Lee, pastor of the White Temple Methodist Episcopal church, will leave with his family on Friday for Santa Barbara where he has been assigned to take up the duties as pastor of the beautiful First Methodist church there.

The Rev. Ray C. Harker of the Whittier church will move to Anaheim at the same time and will preside in the pulpit on Sunday. The assignments made will all become effective on Sunday.

A total of 107 changes have been made in the district at this fifty-seventh annual conference.

FOURTH OF JULY IS QUIET IN ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, July 5.—The police department bulletin has recorded a quiet and peaceful Fourth of July in Anaheim, with few complaints made during the double holiday, and firecracker disturbances were limited.

Mrs. L. C. Jeffus of 612 South Palm street reported to headquarters, last evening, that her Ford touring car had been stolen from in front of the S. Q. R. store on South Lemon street between 7:10 and 9:50 o'clock.

Passing through town Wallace Browning and Harold Nelson, secured a free bed at the city jail on Sunday night and then on Monday secured free bottles of milk from a house at the corner of Broadway and Keosauqua streets. They were returned to the jail for another night's sleep.

ANAHEIM, July 5.—Charged with the possession of intoxicating liquor C. E. Long of Garden Grove pled guilty and was fined $100 or the equivalent time in the county jail, Saturday in the Anaheim justice court by Judge Charles Kuchel. The defendant was taken to the county jail where he was committed following default of payment of the fine.

R. H. Long, son of C. E. Long, was also charged with possession of intoxicating liquors but the case against him was dismissed. The complaint was made by Art Eells, sheriff.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CHEERY DIXON, 19 and pretty, is in love with DAN PHILLIPS, a newspaper reporter whom she has hidden her to see. When Cherry hears Dan's telephone messages have been kept from her she steals it of the house to meet him. He sends her to California. Cherry flies him and he orders her to stay.

She goes to Dan, tells him what has happened and asks him to marry her. The ceremony is performed at night by a justice of peace.

Cherry looks for an apartment and is discouraged to find one so expensive. Dan works late one night on a tip that TONY TOSCALLI, gangland chief, is coming to live this news tip to a reporter on the rival newspaper. The other part gets the story and Dan's boss threatens, "One more slip and you're red."

DIXIE SHANNON, movie critic, slips Cherry find an inexpensive apartment. Dan and Cherry move on the hotel. Cherry finds housework and cooking trying. MAX PEARSON, handsome friend of Dan's, is the first guest whom they invite to dinner.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Chapter XIX

Dan Phillips grinned as he tumbled in a pocket for the key. "I tell you there's nothing like it," he said to Pearson, beside him. "It's great to have a home to come to when you're through work — to know someone is waiting for you here — glad to see you and hear how the day's gone."

The key was in the lock now. Dan swung the door open and stepped back for the other to enter. "You know," Dan continued, "I used to think a fellow gave up a lot when he married — freedom, the right to come and go as he pleased and all that. Well, it's the bunk! The past two weeks have taught me that much. Of course not many men have wives like Cherry."

"She's a pretty girl," Pearson agreed.

"Pretty? Say, Cherry's got everything! Beauty, brains, a wonderful disposition. And the way she's taken to housekeeping!"

They were half way up the stairway. Suddenly an odor, strange and unpleasant, reached their nostrils. It was certainly a penetrating odor and it seemed to come from above.

Dan sniffed. "Wonder if something's burning?" he said uneasily. "Smells like—like rubber or something, doesn't it?"

"Not rubber," Pearson said. "But it does seem to be something else." They had reached the second floor landing. The fumes were heavier and they were certainly coming from the rear apartment.

"It's smoke!" Dan exclaimed, taking the last steps in two leaps. "Cherry!" he cried, rattling the doorknob. "Are you there? Open the door! It's Dan!"

There was no answer. A frantic, seemingly endless moment and then the latch gave. The two men pushed the door open.

Smoke in thick gray clouds, filling their eyes, swept past them. The room was filled with it. There were no flames they could see. "Cherry!" Dan called again. "Where are you?"

Pearson closed the door and crossed the room to raise the window higher. "It seems to be coming from over there," he said, pointing toward the kitchen. He stopped in another fit of coughing. "Cherry!"

Dan had the kitchen door open. Yes, that was where the smoke was coming from. It poured forth in dense, almost suffocating clouds. Pearson saw Dan's arms go around an indistinct figure. "Why, darling," Dan was saying, "You mustn't stay in all this smoke. You've got to get out of here! What in the world happened? Tell me about it!"

The girl made some answer but the words were so muffled Pearson could not hear them. Dan spoke again. "But it's all right now," he urged. "Don't cry, honey! Be glad it wasn't worse. Lord, I was frightened!"

The situation was embarrassing for Pearson. The living room was gradually clearing of the heavy air. He saw that the table had been drawn out and laid with dishes and silver. That there would be no dinner served was obvious. The whole meal must have gone up in flames.

"Look here," he said, addressing Dan's friend. "I'll run along and drop in some other evening. You don't want company tonight. Some other evening — any time. Tell Cherry it's perfectly all right with me."

Dan faced about. "Don't go, Max," he said. "There's been a little accident. Something wrong with the oven. We'll all have to eat somewhere else. Just as soon as Cherry's ready we'll go out together. The three of us. But you mustn't leave. Neither of us would ever forgive you. Would we, Cherry?"

The girl's face was not visible. Pearson heard her say, trembling as though to keep back the tears, "No."

"Well, of course if you'd rather," he agreed uncertainly. There were a few more minutes in which Dan flourished a large white handkerchief and drew cold water for Cherry to bathe her eyes. Presently she appeared. She even managed to smile as she made her apologies to Pearson. Her eyes were red-rimmed and swollen.

While she was changing her dress and repairing the damage of the tears the two men settled themselves with cigarettes. Dan explained what had happened. Cherry had put a roast and vegetables into the oven. They were nearly done when she remembered that she had not enough cream. It was only a block to the grocery store and she hurried all the way, certain nothing could happen to the meal in her absence. It must have taken longer than Cherry realized. The flames under the oven had a trick of blazing up higher and these two circumstances had combined to create disaster. When Cherry returned to the apartment she found the roast burned to a cinder and the rest of the meal as black.

"You're the first guest we've had here, you see," Dan went on. "Naturally she's rather hard hit. She's really learned to cook awfully well. Last night you should have seen the dinner she had ready for me!"

Cherry, when she appeared 15 minutes later, did not look "hard hit." She had been taught that hospitality consists of the manner in which you receive guests rather than what is set before them. Her soul writhed in mortification but she determined to conceal it. Dan had been sweet to pretend everything was all right!

Before the mirror in the "dressing room" (it was really the bathroom), she brightened her cheeks with rouge and touched her lips with scarlet paste. A cloth dipped in icy water and held to her eyes had removed the red lines about the rims. Cherry slipped a slim, lustrous frock of black satin over her head. It was collared with a froth of creamy lace and there was a sapphire bow on one shoulder. Altogether a most becoming dress though she had not thought much about it when she had ordered it at Madeline's two months before. A small black hat and black satin jacket completed the costume.

"Ready," she called as she entered the living room. "Ugh—I can still smell that smoke!"

The men rose. There was some discussion where they should dine as the three went down the stairs a few moments later. Pearson's car was parked at the curb.

"How about the Venetian Grill," he suggested. "The food's rather good."

It was a restaurant new to Cherry. She said eagerly that she would like to visit the Venetian Grill and the matter was settled. They crowded into the roadster and were off.

The rain, starting in the morning, had continued throughout the day. Now it had settled down to a moist drizzle. The wet pavement reflected the street lights, hanging above like glamorous golden balloons in the darkness. Pearson drove carelessly. Cherry thought, but they arrived without mishap.

There are restaurants like the Venetian Grill in every large city in the country. Half a dozen musicians on a slightly raised platform at the far side of the large room were playing a fox-trot. Their music was subdued and not unpleasant. In the center of the floor a space had been cleared for dancing. The decorations of the place — painted walls, mirrors, heavy gold and blue curtains, palms in huge pottery jars, rose-shaded table lamps — were a bit garish. Still there was an air of gaiety about the place. Young couples sitting at small tables were obviously dressed in their best for "dates." There were groups of well-fed, prosperous looking business men and here and there a family party.

Cherry and Max and Dan chose a table near the wall. One look at the menu card and the girl was relieved. It was not going to be terribly expensive after all. She thought of the ruined dinner at home and sighed involuntarily. Cherry, during the past two weeks, had been learning to count her pennies.

"Steaks are the specialty," Pearson told her. They settled on the order and Dan launched immediately into a discussion of local politics. Cherry was relieved. She did not want to talk. How could she forget the failure of her entire day's work—the labor, expense and careful planning that had literally gone up in smoke.

Pearson's voice interrupted her thoughts. She said, "I—I'm sorry but I'm afraid I wasn't listening." He said, "Won't you dance this one with me?"

Other couples were already circling the cleared space. The music was a waltz from a German motion picture. Its slow rhythm was melodious, contagious.

"Go ahead," Dan urged. "Personally I couldn't stagger as far as the next table. I'm all in tonight!" Cherry smiled. "I'd love to," she said.

They were an attractive couple—the tall, handsome Pearson and the slender girl in black. Other diners paused to notice them.

After that first dance they returned to their table. They danced a second time and then a third. Cherry's head came just above Pearson's shoulder. She had to tilt it backward to meet his eyes. Their steps matched perfectly and in synchronization became more haunting, more hypnotic.

Pearson's arm tightened imperceptibly about the girl.

Dan and Cherry were alone in the apartment. It was nearly 11 o'clock and Cherry, in a rose negligee, was brushing her hair for the night.

"Honestly, don't you think Max is a wonder?" Dan asked. "Isn't he about the most interesting talker you've ever met?"

The girl agreed. She hastened to turn the conversation into other channels. But half an hour later, in spite of repeatedly telling herself not to—it was Max Pearson of whom Cherry was thinking.

What was it she had read in Max's dark eyes? Surely—oh, surely she had been mistaken!

Many Enjoy Legion Barbecue And Entertainment

HUNDREDS AT PARK FOR 4TH OF JULY EVENT

Hundreds of men, women and children, families of Santa Ana's unemployed, were guests of the Santa Ana post of the American Legion at the Legion's giant Fourth of July picnic and celebration held yesterday at Irvine park.

The picnic was a great success as a result of wide spread cooperation. With Legion men in charge of all departments of the picnic, every detail was carried out successfully, bringing to those without jobs, one day of perfect contentment and happiness. There was entertainment for all, and due to the generosity of various merchants and donors there was more food than the guests could eat.

The children had an unusually big day. With a series of races, games and other entertainments for children, it was their day. Scores of prizes for children of various ages were given, the prizes being donated for the occasion by Santa Ana merchants.

Band Concerts

During the morning these games were staged at one side of the park, while the elder members of the family heard a concert by the Santa Ana Moose band. The Santa Ana Municipal band, directed by Caesar Claford, played during the afternoon. Later in the afternoon, the pavilion was thrown open and the guests of the Legion were treated to a big dance, music for which was furnished by Joe Sanford's orchestra, of Santa Ana.

But the big event of the day was the picnic dinner served at noon. Candidates for office in Orange county acted as waiters and the unemployed and their families were given all they could eat. With all the food present there was no chance for any one to go hungry and even with "seconds" served generously, there was food left over. The menu consisted of roast beef, potatoes, potato salad, dressing, green onions, beans (baked army style) and ice cream. The Legion had 10 gallons of ice cream left after the dinner was served. This was handed out to the children during the afternoon.

Mayor Paul Wittmer, a member of the post and William Penn, city councilman, who resigned as commander of the Post to become a city officer, both moved about through the crowd throughout the day seeing that the guests were having a good time. Commander Rodney Bauman was very much in evidence throughout the day, while other Legion leaders, including Franklin G. West, former commander, worked hard throughout the day.

Candidates Assist

The candidates for office, many of whom are Legion men, who waited on the tables at noon, included: Charles Van Wyk, candidate for supervisor; Franklin G. West, candidate for superior judge; Roland Thompson, candidate for superior judge; James Utt, candidate for the assembly; Mrs. Louise Mock, candidate for assembly; D. G. Wetlin, Democratic candidate for state senator; Willbur Getty, candidate for supervisor; Sam Collins, district attorney, candidate for congress; Loyal King, candidate for the assembly; William Iverson, candidate for the Republican county central committee; Robert Speed, candidate for the assembly; Jules Markel, candidate for the Democratic county central committee and Harold R. Miller, of San Bernardino, candidate for congress.

All these candidates were presented to the crowds at the park from the platform, but not permitted to make a speech. The cooks for the occasion, all were presented to the guests and received a big ovation. They were: Frank Valdez, Mack McCall, M. J. Smith, G. Birdsell and Hubert Johnson.

Franklin Grouard, past commander of the post acted as general chairman for the picnic. His job was to see that the entire program, from the taking of the unemployed from their homes to the park, entertaining them, feeding them and taking them home, and it was carried out without a hitch. He also was presented to the crowds from the platform.

Franklin West presided at the loud speaker, making announcements and introductions during the day.

CAMERA PLANE 'GUNS'

SELF-PRIDE FIELD, Mich. — The First Pursuit Group of the U. S. Army has received twenty camera "guns" to be used in connection with its airplane tactical training. The guns are operated by a trigger on the control stick. Instead of shooting bullets, the guns shot pictures of the object or plane being attacked. The pictures show the spot where a bullet, if discharged by a gun, would strike the attacked plane.

BEFORE — AND — AFTER

A ride up Broadway — well, that's fine! ... Cheering crowds. Streams of ticker tape....The prospect evidently pleased Amelia Earhart Putnam as she in this smiling pose at the start of her triumphal ride up New York's Broadway. But—things like that are a bit wearing on the nerves! ...It's a rather haggard, obviously weary aviatrix who is shown below in another photo taken at the end of her noisy "parade of welcome." Look like she's glad that's all over, doesn't it?

METHODS FOR FRUIT DISEASE CONTROL TOLD

BY HAROLD E. WAHLBERG, FARM ADVISOR

Production of satisfactory yield of good quality fruit cannot be expected from subnormal trees. Scaly bark is one of the principal diseases responsible for weakened trees in the Valencia orchards of Orange county. It is not unusual to find this bark disease in most of the mature orchards of the county. It is a comparatively slow-acting disease, but when once established in the tree, it can do considerable damage unless proper steps are taken to control its spread.

The important details of control were demonstrated last week in a series of field meetings where various stages of scaly bark disease were shown to large groups of growers from all parts of the county.

Regular annual or even semi-annual inspections of all the trees in the orchard are recommended in order that the disease may be detected in its incipency. The sooner the disease is treated, the less expensive its control and the more satisfactory the results.

Scaly bark is recognized from its appearance of hard rough and irregular scales of dead bark curling up from the surface of the bark either on the trunk or branches.

Scraping the diseased areas and the apparently healthy bark for six or more inches beyond the scaly areas in all directions is the standard method of control. This is accomplished by using sharp tools and removing just the outer layers of the bark to assist nature in throwing off the affected tissues.

Disinfection of the scraper areas is desirable but not entirely necessary. Water soluble disinfectants are effective and satisfactory. One of the most popular disinfectants is the one per cent solution of potassium permanganate which may be prepared by using one level teaspoonful of potassium permanganate to one pint of water. The solution should be kept in a glass or earthen receptacle. This material is not only effective but also economical.

Detailed instructions for the proper control of scaly bark or other citrus tree diseases may be obtained in bulletin form at the farm advisor's office.

CONFERENCE ON DEPRESSION TO BE HELD IN L. A.

A two day educational conference on "The Economic Depression" will be held at the Pacific Palisades conference grounds, Pacific Palisades, July 9 and 10. It was announced today by the Los Angeles group of the League for Industrial Democracy, a nation-wide organization which is sponsoring the conference. Sessions will be held afternoons and evenings of the two days; registration and attendance are open to the public, and convenient arrangements have been made for meals and over-night lodging.

Saturday afternoon the topic will be "Antecedents of the Depression," handled by Dean Rockwell D. Hunt of the University of Southern California, supported by Dr. Bruce Anthony and John C. Packard. Saturday evening Harvey Fremming of the county employment stabilization will talk on "The Depths of the Depression," and E. Martha Morse and Clinton J. Taft will take part in the discussion.

All day Sunday will be given to "Ways Out of the Depression." From 2 to 3:30 o'clock a group of students will discuss "Youth and the Way Out." At 3:45 o'clock a group of young ministers will talk about "Religion and Social Reconstruction." Sunday evening J. Ritt Wilson of Berkeley, writer and speaker on social problems for many years, will endeavor to answer the question, "Is There a Solution?" Robert Whitaker and David Ziskind will contribute to the discussion.

FIVE METHODIST CHURCHES IN COUNTY TO HAVE NEW PASTORS; WARMER RETURNED

Five Methodist churches of Orange county will have new pastors next Sunday, according to the list of assignments made public yesterday by Bishop James C. Baker, of San Francisco, at the fifty-seventh annual conference, Southern California M. E. church, which concluded its sessions in Long Beach with the announcement of assignments.

Pastors of the two Methodist churches in Santa Ana were returned to their congregation. Dr. George A. Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church, will start his sixth year here and the Rev. O. W. Reinus, also is beginning the sixth year of his pastorate in Santa Ana next Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Reinus is pastor of the Richmond Avenue Methodist church.

All Methodist churches in the county will have new ministers next Sunday with the exception of the two Santa Ana churches, Orange, Huntington Beach and Newport Beach. The Rev. L. V. Lucas was returned to Orange, the Rev. John Engle will serve for another year in Huntington Beach and the Rev. R. C. Stroup is returned to Newport Beach.

The Rev. Ray C. Harker, formerly of Whittier, has been assigned to Anaheim, replacing the Rev. Ralph W. Lee, who was transferred to Santa Barbara; the Rev. E. Dow Hoffman, formerly of San Diego, goes to Fullerton and the Rev. B. D. Snudden leaves that pastorate for Riverside; the Rev. F. J. Seaman, of Garden Grove, was transferred to Grace church, Los Angeles, and will be replaced by the Rev. Grover Ralston, of Yorba Linda; the Rev. A. F. Hassee was transferred from Costa Mesa to Hynes and will be replaced by the Rev. W. I. Lowe, formerly of Santa Maria; Crawford Trotter, formerly of Banning, was assigned to Yorba Linda to take the pulpit left by the transfer of the Rev. Mr. Ralston.

PUTTING ON THE DOG

A Denver, Col. theater has a dog on which it mounts an advertising sign. The dog is trained to stop and look in windows so pedestrians and shoppers will see the advertisement.

FIREMEN ANSWER 4 LA HABRA CALLS

LA HABRA, July 5.—Four small fires occurred in La Habra over the week end and holiday. While Mrs. Leslie Jones on North Lois was melting some paraffine, the contents of the pan caught fire and scorched the woodwork in the kitchen. The fire was under control before the fire department reached the scene. A butter delivery truck on Fullerton road caught fire and the engine and driver's compartment were badly burned before the flames were extinguished. The fire department answered the call and all the butter cargo was saved.

Two Mexican youths were burning off the dry grass around the ball diamond southwest of La Habra and the fire got away from them and threatened the garages of the houses on First avenue. The fire department was called and put out the fire, but the two young men were brought to the city hall by the chief of police for a lecture on the fire rules of the city as they were burning without a permit.

A fire in the La Habra Heights district late Sunday afternoon burned over approximately two acres and scorched a few avocado trees on the groves of Thomas LaMonte and A. E. Glas. The trees were not seriously damaged.

Nuptials in Glendora Of Much Interest To Santa Anans

At one of the prettiest weddings of the season held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the First Methodist church at Glendora, Robert Louis Fischer, grandson of P. A. Robinson of this city, was wedded to Miss Laversa Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Jack of Glendora.

The church was beautifully decorated in pastel colors, with small French bouquets marking the entrance to each pew. Larger bouquets of the varicolored flowers were grouped about the altar, with tall white candles gleaming on either side.

Preceding the ceremony was a 15-minute organ recital, followed by the song, "I Love You Truly." To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, the Rev. Mr. Ashby, pastor of the Glendora church, proceeded to the altar, followed by Mr. Fischer, and his best man, William Williams, and the ushers, Messrs. Milton Morrell and Loren Casper, each wearing a white gardenia in the lapel of his flannel coat.

At the altar, they were joined by the bride and her attendants. The two bridesmaids, Miss Helen Dexter in yellow organdy, and Miss Gertrude Bruner in blue organdy, carried bouquets of sweet peas in pastel colors. The maid of honor, Miss Evelyn Parnell of Fullerton, was in apricot organdy. Little Martha Ann Lett, a dainty flower girl, in deep apricot organdy, with wide brimmed hat, scattered rose leaves in the path of the bride, who entered upon her father's arm.

Miss Jack was a picture of loveliness in her long embroidered white organdy gown, with tight fitting turban and short veil and carrying a shower bouquet of bride roses.

After the impressive ring ceremony, a reception was held at the Jack home where Mrs. Caroline Fischer, mother of the groom, aided Mrs. Jack in receiving.

Following the cutting of the bridal cake, the young couple departed for their honeymoon to be spent in the mountains.

Guests from this vicinity were Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Robinson, Miss Marjorie Lusk, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Robinson and daughter Mary, and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Fischer and daughter Julia.

GRACE Z. LENTZ

Among flower studies one commanding special interest was a mingling of deep blue delphinium and white daisies with light shifting through sheer glass curtains and a background of rich damask deeper in tone than the delphiniums. Another canvas which displayed this artist's unique gift of handling white flowers, was a bowl of Killarney roses whose values were wonderfully well expressed, and to which quaint note of contrast so noticeable in her work, was lent by a small bisque figure—a Chinese bust—resting on the table by the flowers.

"Two Bouquets" offered a bewitching mass of color and form in the two distinct arrangements of flowers widely separated in both qualities, yet blended into a satisfying arrangement of color harmonies by the magic of the artist.

Artists Well Known Here

The work and careers of both of these well-known artists are followed eagerly by Santa Anans in general, for this city feels a proprietary interest in each one.

Mrs. Miller was a Santa Ana girl, a teacher here in the high school, and her mother and sisters are living here. Mrs. M. A. Nunn, her mother, and one sister, Mrs. Lula Evans, are at the family home, 802 North Ross street.

Mrs. J. C. Kirby, 1663 West Seventeenth street, and Mrs. W. G. Compton, living between this city and Orange, are the remaining sisters.

Mrs. Warner's mother, Mrs. Ida Walker, lives at 58½ West First street, and Santa Anans recall with interest the other daughters of the home, Helen Walker, now Mrs. Gene Douglas, and an Americanization worker in Los Angeles schools, where she follows the same activities that she developed in this city when she was head of the Americanization work.

The third in this trio of well-known sisters is Dr. McBride, now of Riverside.

YOU and your Friends

Mrs. Claude H. Van Antwerp, 2304 North Broadway, who has been undergoing medical treatment at a Covina hospital, is reported showing steady improvement, although her return to Santa Ana has been necessarily delayed. Tuesday she was said to have enjoyed one of her best days.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Gardner and sons, Jack and Dick, reached their home, 2026 North Main street, today after a vacation automobile trip during which they visited Del Monte and the Yosemite valley.

They returned Saturday to Sanger where they spent the holiday week-end with relatives, leaving last night for Santa Ana.

Mrs. Ludy Schaeffer, 642 East Fourth street, and Mrs. T. J. Neal, 730 Cypress avenue, spent Tuesday of last week in Los Angeles attending a meeting and party of the Pacific Coast Pekinese club, held at the home of Mrs. W. A. Martel, Crescent Heights, Hollywood. Games and guessing contests were the amusements. Over a hundred guests were present and a fund was raised to help defray expenses for the big Specialty Dog show to be held August 6 and 7, at the Road Exposition building in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe G. Hewitt and family are expected home the latter part of this week from a motor trip which was to take them through Yosemite valley and up the coast as far as British Columbia.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Lepper of 2308 Maple street entertained over the week end Mr. and Mrs. K. K. Kidd of Taft, who returned north yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Curtis of 222 South Main street have as houseguests for a few days Mrs. Curtis' sister, Mrs. Ida Lovegreen of La Verne, and John and Axel Holm of Rockford, Ill., old friends of the Santa Anans. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis motored to La Verne Saturday to bring the visitors to Santa Ana and were their hosts at Long Beach yesterday, and at Laguna Beach today.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard White and daughter moved Monday to Cypress, where they plan to establish permanent residence. The Whites have made their Santa Ana home at 2214 Maple street.

Miss Olga Maslurn of this city has returned from a week end holiday spent on Catalina Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred N. Anderson and son, Kenneth, and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McKelley of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ellis of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. John D. Weiss and Mr. and Mrs. Kerwood Service of Los Angeles spent the past week end together in Santa Ana and at Balboa Beach. Saturday night the party journeyed to Irvine park for a steak bake before continuing on to Balboa Beach for a dance. Most of Sunday and Monday were spent at Balboa Beach, hosts and guests returning to the Anderson home at 931 Kilson drive for dinner each evening.

Mrs. C. M. Aker has as a visitor in her home at 1022 North Flower street, Miss Margaret Billingsly, who is home on furlough from mission work in Korea.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coutts, 938 Grand avenue, are home from a week end trip to Yosemite Valley.

Miss Weethee Becomes Bride of Kansas Here Sunday

Beneath a picturesque arch of flowers and fern, erected for the occasion in the home of Mrs. Beth Weethee at 2058 Bush street, Miss Valada L. Weethee, daughter of the home, was joined in marriage to George E. Bell, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Bell of Yates Center, Kans., on Sunday.

Attended by Miss Sylvia Weethee, sister of the bride, and by John Helmerick, the couple spoke their vows before the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of the First Baptist church, in the presence of a small gathering of relatives and close friends. The bride, carrying a beautiful bouquet of white rosebuds and lilies of the valley, was lovely in a semi-formal gown of pale pink embroidered silk chiffon with a contrasting blue satin sash. A blue and white lace picture hat completed her costume. The Lohengrin wedding march to which she entered was played by her cousin, Miss Beulah Martin.

Masses of gladioluses and hydrangeas were in evidence throughout the home, their color and fragrance lending added attraction to the setting in which took place the informal reception following the wedding, during which period appropriate refreshments were served.

A wedding trip was to precede Mr. and Mrs. Bell's journey to Yates Center, Kans., where they are to make their home. A well known Santa Ana girl, Mrs. Bell for the past three years has held a responsible position with the Bell telephone company, work assumed following her attendance at the Orange County Business college. Mr. Bell, who attended Kansas State Teachers college in Emporia, Kans., has been studying architecture at Kansas State college, Manhattan, Kans., for the last three years.

Birthday Party Given Patriotic Effect In Nearby Park

The nearness of Little Miss Patsy Louise Spough's birthday anniversary to Independence day, gave every reason for using the patriotic symbols for decorations at a merry birthday party which the little maid's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Spough, 1130 South Birch street, gave Saturday afternoon in Anaheim City park.

It was Little Miss Patsy's seventh anniversary, and a whole bevy of her friends were bidden to celebrate it with her. Such a happy time as they had, from the minute of their arrival at the park, to which they were transported in a big truck gay with bunting and flags, to the close of the afternoon.

There were games of all kinds held on the grassy lawns of the park, and supervised by Mr. and Mrs. Spough and Mrs. Hazel Rhine. There was the additional joy of watching the little hostess open her birthday gifts, and to crown the afternoon there was the refreshment hour when tables were brilliant with red, white and blue decorations and each child found favors of firecrackers and balloons to represent big red apples.

The birthday cake had red, white and blue candles and decorations, and was served with ice cream, cookies and fruitade.

Prizes were given at this time, to Gordon Cizek, Glenna Jean Titchenal, Jack Givens and Lorraine Morrison, who had proven most skillful in various games and contests.

Little Miss Patsy Lorraine is of special interest to her playmates, because she is to be immortalized in story form. For she is the central character in a series of child stories being written by Miss Marjorie Lusk for an eastern magazine, and now nearing completion.

The playmates invited to her party were Charlene Kincaid, Lorraine Morrison, Betty Lorraine Sleeper, Virginia Rhine, Dorothy Valentine, Glenna Jean Titchenal, La Rue Cizek, Ruth Marian Childs, Roger Howell, Jack Givens, Jack Hallum, Wayne Carruthers, Nell Roenders, Robert Hight, Gordon Cizek, Jimmy Valentine and Tom Cook, with Patsy Louise, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Spough, and Mrs. Hazel Rhine to complete the happy group.

METAL SHORTAGE

PALO ALTO, Cal.—Within a century the world will commence to feel a shortage of metals, Prof. Theodore J. Hoover, dean of the Stanford School of Engineering, and brother of President Hoover, reports. He says that the world uses more than 1,000,000 tons of metals a year and that the metal age will soon end at that rate of consumption.

THE TINYTIMES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

It made two of the Tines grin to see the others hidden in the crazy looking horse hide. Scouty cried, "Let's see you run." "You'd better do it slow. Don't dart, or you will pull the horse apart. I'd like to try that stunt, myself. I'll bet it's lots of fun." "It's all right," Coppy said, "but, gee, we both are warm as warm can be. However, we will stay here till we've given you a thrill." And then to Windy he cried out, "You're up in front, so when I shout, giddap, just start to run. I surely hope that we don't spill!"

"All right," said Windy. "I'm all set. I'll start off easy, you can bet." Then Coppy shouted, "Giddap," and the horse began to go. The other Tines laughed in glee and Scouty shouted, "Mercy me! How are we going to stop that horse? I guess that I'll yell whoa."

His "whoa," however, was no use. The big horse still was running loose. It jumped and pranced in crazy style and then sat on the ground. In just a minute it jumped high and Scouty dodged as it whizzed by. Said he, "You'll both get tired out, if you keep on running 'round."

"Don't worry," answered Coppy. "We are just as frisky as can be. You see, a horse has lots of pep. We have to have it, too."

And then to Scouty, Duncy said, "A plan has popped into my head. You'll hurt your side from laughing when you see what I will do." He rushed up to the horse and cried, "Here's where I got a dandy ride. I'm going to leap upon this horse. It will be something new."

But, when he tried to take a seat, the horse sagged down on both its feet. It bent right in the middle and then almost broke in two.

HOW TO KEEP FROM GOING CRAZY

IF you don't care what happens—
If your life goes along in a groove—
If you depend on the movies for your thrills—

If you haven't any yearning for anything—
If you keep quiet instead of letting off steam when you are angry—
Then watch out! You need a two-weeks' vacation. You are in just the state when it is easiest for people to go crazy.

To get started back to sanity you should do something that you have no business doing. That advice comes from Dr. Louis J. Karnosh, noted psychiatric specialist, who is assistant professor of nervous and mental diseases at Western Reserve University, and head of the psychiatric department at City Hospital, Cleveland.

At least once in your life, Dr. Karnosh says, you should do something unnecessary as a celebration. Just as often as possible, do as you please!

Other people may think you are crazy for being foolish, but you won't be. You will be keeping yourself from getting that way.

IF you want to watch a steam shovel at noon instead of hurrying back to the office, watch it," Dr. Karnosh suggests. "You won't get in a loitering habit. Desire occurs rhythmically, so when you have seen the dirt turn over you will be satisfied. However, it is bad for your state of mind to stifle the desire."

Vacation periods are excellent starters for people who want to keep their balance, he has found.

"Two weeks is about the right length of time for vacations for mental workers," Dr. Karnosh says. "It takes four or five days for most people to become adjusted to new surroundings in their vacation background. Most men want to go back to work the first week. After that, they have a good time."

"There are two essential qualities for a good vacation. First, it must be something different than your ordinary routine. Second, it should be a return to a more primitive type of living. People need vacations when they grow prosaic in thought and actions, and their emotional life is colorless."

"You have had a good vacation when you feel that your work is so far away that you never want to go back to it. If you feel that you can slip into it very easily you haven't had a vacation. The millstone is still hanging around your neck. You haven't broken the leash."

THIS leash must be broken, now and then, if you don't want to run the risk of going crazy.

"Men and women need the same types and lengths of vacations," the psychiatrist says.

"The fact that a vacation is a change, not only physically but emotionally, is the important thing. Play and a vacation, doing each day something that is not dedicated to a rational and methodical world, lapsing into purposeful meandering and a lackadaisical sally—these are the only antidotes we can safely offer to those who are parts of the machine age. The man who plans a vacation by consulting time tables and laying out a stop-watch itinerary had better stay at home."

There are several things that you must do, if you want to keep from going crazy.

First of all, keep an eye on your emotional life. If it is dull and drab, and you don't care whether anything happens, watch out. Just because your brain is going the pace doesn't mean that your emotions are.

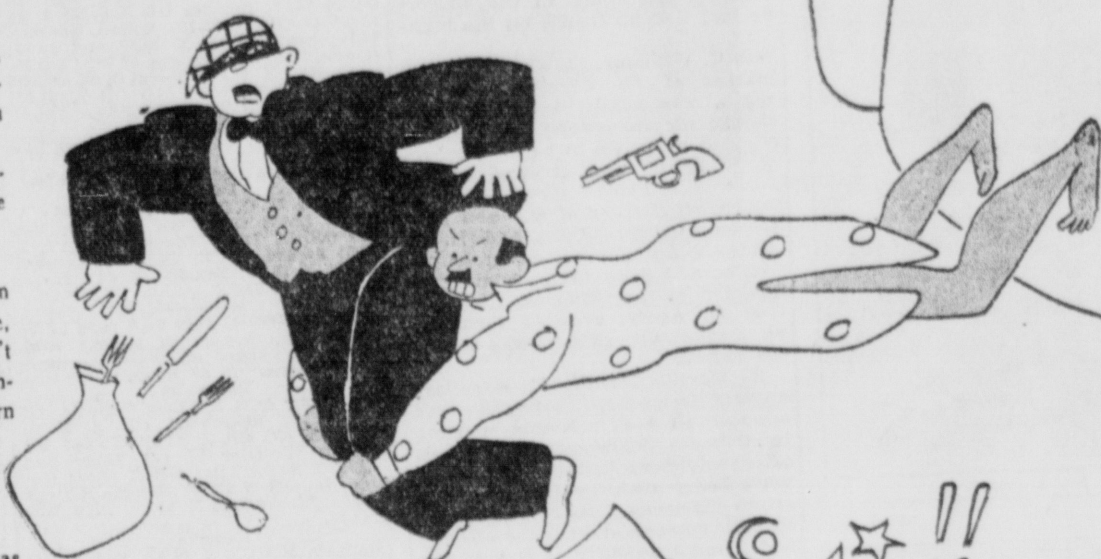

"Our mental life may be very much better today, but our emotional life is not," says Dr. Karnosh. "Lots of people are mentally alert but emotionally dead. The sad part is that they don't know it. They are the ones who do not recover when anything happens to make them go crazy."

"PEOPLE who are unemotional are the saddest in the world. It is possible to determine whether an insane person will recover or not by examining his personality at the time that he went insane. If his emotional life was rich, he will come out of it. If it wasn't his case is hopeless."

Avoid second-hand living—if you don't want to go crazy. Don't depend on the movies for your thrills. Chase down a few of your own.

Don't think that you are a little bit off if you have an urge to sign up with a gypsy caravan. It's a sign that you aren't. Let the people with blue serge, stay-at-home souls do the worrying. "With emotional and vital energies bottled

Don't depend on books and movies for your thrills---chase down a few of your own, says Dr. Karnosh, who describes vacations as a real necessity and urges everyone, at least once in his lifetime, to do something he has no business doing up we seek to release them through second-handed living," Dr. Karnosh observes. "As victims of ennui, we substitute the novel for the thrill of the cave-dweller's hunt, the theater for the tribal war, the psychology lecture, the religious cult, the automobile, the movie, the prize fight in the stadium for the healthy fears and the normal heart throbs of primitive men."

"THE rational, critical man is willing to live in the twentieth century, but the romantic, venturesome basic brain of you and me yearns for risks and hazards and surprises that our life doesn't afford."

"Most of us want adventures. But we don't go adventuring because we lack basic initiative. The more stereotyped our lives become, the more we stay in one groove, the more likely we are to go insane when something happens to upset us."

It isn't the fact that you do the same old thing in the same old way, day after day, that will be responsible for a mental disturbance. But if you are too used to your groove you won't know how to take care of anything mentally upsetting.

People go insane because life is too easy. Economic depression may be a good thing because it will give people some goal for which to strive again.

Dr. Karnosh says: "Happiness is found in the crescendo of anticipation and striving, not when there is nothing you want which keeps you guessing whether you are, or you aren't, going to get it."

"THE people who congregate at such affairs as the Florida land boom are the choice collection of romancers," the psychiatrist says. "They have the natural, healthy spirit of adventurers."

"We find that a great many of the people who steal or break other laws do it because of an emotional desire to live. The stereotyped age restricts that desire, so they break a law in their attempt to satisfy it."

"For instance, a boy who steals an automobile does it because he wants to go somewhere in it. He thinks that it will help him to step into the land about which he has been dreaming. He may go to jail. But he won't go to an institution for the insane."

"Pioneers were never sophisticated or neurotics," adds Dr. Karnosh. "They did not suffer with jaded minds. They hadn't time for them. They always had something new to tackle."

"We need the same thrill of adventure. Emotion feeds and lives on sudden changes and sudden demands."

So if you are criticized because you are restless, don't sit down in a rocking chair. Keep right on chasing thrills.

AND don't plan your relaxation. If you do, it's just so much more monotonous routine. "To succeed an event must be unexpected,"

(Copyright, 1932, by EveryWeek Magazine—Printed in U. S. A.)

At least once in your life, Dr. Karnosh says, you should do something very special that has no business being done at all.

gerous. Dr. Karnosh has discovered that introverts who lock things up inside of them go insane much more easily than extraverts who lose their tempers about mishaps. He advises rages and storms and stamping of feet.

Women are much more likely to stage a scene. Men will sulk and mull and withdraw. Psychiatric hospitals know that men's wards are quiet. Women's wards are noisy.

If you want to live in the world of the mentally balanced, avoid monotony. Stop being contented. It may be a virtue but it won't get you any place but a lunatic asylum if some sudden crisis upsets you.

"Monotony drives people crazy," Dr. Karnosh states. "The steady drip of water, heard over and over again, the humdrum of unending tasks, all alike, can send you insane."

"Once it was the farm-wife who suffered from such conditions. She doesn't go crazy any longer, though. It is because she has a telephone now, an automobile, and other diversions that add variety to her schedule. The tenement mother is taking her place. She has to endure the monotony."

THERE are some people who don't mind a wearisome sameness. If you belong in that class, don't think you are lucky. You were born emotionally lame, and your mind doesn't make demands.

Dr. Karnosh teaches that there is a rhythm to likes and dislikes. There may be certain foods that you want just once in a while. Certain people you like to see every three months, no oftener. Certain songs that sound well at intervals. Certain experiences you would like to live over now and then.

Because you don't want a steady diet of spaghetti, or daily visits from your relatives, means that you are normal. Likes and dislikes go in cycles.

Then there is the question of inhibitions. If you have a wish that you can't fulfill, don't lock it up in your mind. It isn't enough to check the wish and still keep it.

You must kill it entirely. Otherwise you are hurting yourself more than you may know. Nervous disorders and suppressed, or unsatisfied, tendencies that are cherished for long periods are closely related.

THERE is a regular list of other rules to follow if you don't want to be in a mood to go crazy.

Take care if you like to sit in rocking chairs. It is a bad sign. It means that you are uneasy. If you cross and uncross your legs, and fumble with your jewelry that is more evidence. Do some hard work that will make you so tired you will sleep, if you want to get over this nervousness.

Watch your nutrition and digestion. Don't overeat, especially of nitrogenous foods, such as meats, eggs and legumes. Don't undereat, either. Dieting may be injurious.

Beware of defective teeth, broken arches, badly fitted shoes, poor eyesight. Get enough sleep. Don't let your conscience worry you. Don't let wishes come crowding that you can repress but not nullify. Do something about it or get rid of the wishes.

A good vacation must be different than your ordinary routine and it should be a return to a more primitive type of living.

Golf was a splendid relaxation as long as there was a carefree zest to the game.

THE OPPORTUNITY OF THE BOARD OF STRATEGY

The Board of Strategy, as it meets for the state of California, and as it meets in Washington for the nation, has before it the problem of recommendation for the country.

They have the opportunity, in making such a recommendation, to clarify the atmosphere; to express the conscience of the Christian citizenship; to serve notice upon the people of the country that deserving to win is more important than winning the election, and that the Christian prohibition forces have not capitulated to the forces of exploitation, compromise, disaster, betrayal and defeat.

Which will they do? Congressmen who have already taken their unequivocal position for the Eighteenth amendment and against every move to undermine it or repeal it, are wondering where the Christian leadership will point the way. These men are opposed already in many cases by Congressmen who declare they stand on the "Republican Platform, who are out and out wet."

Will the members of the Board of Strategy declare that this Republican plank, on which these "wet" candidates for Congress are standing, is "dry" enough to support Hoover on? And yet is too "wet" to elect a Congressman on?

Intelligent people know better. The Board of Strategy is bound to ring true. They represent the Christian conscience of the nation. They are not under the influence or political direction of Walter Brown, the liquor leader of Toledo, who has been the political advisor in these latter days nationally. They are not under the direction of James Garfield, the "wet" from Cleveland.

They realize that it is their place to stand for the right, and by those friends who are maintaining their position, in the face of the staggering convention in Chicago.

We are confident that this confidence in them will not be misplaced. After examination, they will point out the palpable facts, that a "wet" plank is "wet" regardless of how many rubber "words" have been wrapped around it. They will stand by the Congressmen who are unequivocally for the Eighteenth amendment. They will stand opposed to those who are endeavoring to "sneak" in on a "wet" platform.

They will give hope to the Christian citizenship who are looking not primarily to win, but to have an opportunity to fight square and fair, clean and straight for a principle and for candidates, who when they have won them, can realize that they have achieved a victory that will cause sorrow in the heart of every enemy of sobriety.

EYES ON LAUSANNE

The eyes of the world are on Lausanne just at present. There they are trying to work out a program for either debt cancellation or debt payments. Just now Italy proposes cancellation of all debts. This does not mean necessarily a cancellation of the amounts due the United States. But it means inter-European debts, including the amount claimed as reparations from Germany.

Germany will heartily agree with Italy in this position, and it shows somewhat of an alliance between the two. It may save the situation in Germany if this is adopted. And it has been privately advised that Premier Herriot is more in accord with Germany than has been generally supposed.

It is not so much now a real effort to get money out of Germany as it is a program to save the whole European situation from collapse. And the German representatives have reached the point where they can well afford to be almost indifferent to what the Lausanne conference does, or at least stand by their ultimatum of no further reparations. The situation there is more important than the discussion of the liquor situation in this country.

THE "ATLANTIC" CHANGES ITS COVER

An event of national significance, at least if wide comment makes it so, is the change of cover on the "Atlantic Monthly," one of our oldest and ablest monthly magazines. While it has changed somewhat in the nature of its contents, it has adhered to a set policy more closely than any of the other monthlies which have survived from the last century. Like all the others, the "Atlantic" has been forced to recognize present day events and problems, but somewhat less so. Now that it has changed its cover, another landmark has passed.

We do not know what moved the publishers in making this change. Was it a public demand, which is so insistent in these days, that change has become necessary to mark progress? Or, was it that the publishers themselves got tired of looking at the fifty-year old pattern? Hitherto, the "Atlantic" has been moved by neither of these. Editors have come and gone. Publishers have changed. But there was no evidence in the style or the formation of the monthly of these successive changes. Even in its contents, it bears this mark of an unbroken continuity.

But even with this change of cover, the same familiar style of writing is evident in the articles. The "Atlantic" has come to be a distinctive American institution, welcome in homes of culture and literary tastes. It is the one American magazine of which a complete file from the very beginning of its publication in the middle of the last century, may be found in all the leading libraries of the country. Its editors, from the days of James Russell Lowell to its present editor, Ellery Sedgwick, have had an unerring sense of what a respectable and influential group of the American literati wanted. In its new dress, we shall continue to find the things so many have enjoyed during its long career in the upper class of literary and intellectual life.

THE "UNHAPPY WARRIOR"

Regardless of how the people felt concerning the candidate on the Democratic ticket, we believe there was a general disposition to condemn Alfred E. Smith's attitude in refusing to come out wholeheartedly for Mr. Roosevelt at Chicago. Mr. Smith had a wonderful opportunity to do the grand, sportsmanlike act at the conclusion, as Governor Murray and Governor Ritchie and Governor Byrd did.

More than that, there was greater reason why Mr. Smith should do this than any of the other men. Mr. Roosevelt had never supported any of these other candidates for president as he had Mr. Smith. Mr. Smith, rather than do this, packed up his belongings and went back to New York, sulking and silent.

It was poor sportsmanship, poor politics, and has done more to injure Mr. Smith in the minds of the people of this country than anything that he has ever done. Men are known frequently by the manner in which they are able to meet defeat and disappointment. One who could not at least conceal his disappointment long enough in such a time, to congratulate his successful opponent, hardly had in him the elements that would have made a great president.

Recognizing Mather's Work

In Yosemite Valley on July Fourth a plaque will be dedicated to Stephen T. Mather, first director of the National Park Service. The concluding line of the inscription on that plaque will read: "There never will come an end to the good that he has done."

The tribute is not extravagant when its full meaning is considered. If ever a man's work was enduring it was that of this man who when the Nation's parks were more or less shifting for them, took the helm and worked out a program for a unified system.

The pioneer director, says the Stockton Record, loved humanity. Because of his interest in the "little fellow" he fostered a program that would make the parks and park accommodation available to people of small means as well as to those more liberally endowed with worldly goods.

Mr. Mather gave more than his practical idealism and energies to the cause of the parks. To the people's playground he devoted a large part of his own personal fortune.

Because of Stephen Mather's vision, humanity and genius for organization, the parks are assured a future development that will preserve their beauty and resources to the fullest at the same time that they are thrown open to the greatest number. In all truth, "there never will come an end to the good that he has done."

Chaplin's Plan

While a great party is holding its convention in Chicago the financial representatives of leading nations are meeting at Lausanne, and the statesmen of as many are talking arms limitation at Geneva, the world's most famous comedian seriously proposes a plan to cure the ills of the world. It is not a plan to be accepted as a joke, or to be derided because it emanated from one who makes it his business to be a clown.

Briefly the Chaplin plan would call for international money, based on silver, and backed by bonds to prevent any deliberate depreciation. The economists will take Charlie Chaplin's plan and tell him where it is good or bad. It will be said by some that the maintenance of the value of an international money in a world where living conditions are so varied and when wars constantly threaten, is next to the impossible. Others may say that if we had such money we would have to preserve peace for our own economic self protection. Chaplin may be visionary when he expresses belief that recognition of such a currency at gold par value could be forced, or that there is any possibility, within many years, of convincing the nations of the globe of the merits of the plan. Even so, he is a film comedian who has started economic discussion and if some day something approaching his plan is seriously considered, he will have the last laugh.

Those Fractional Delegates

Sympathy is stirred for the Connecticut delegate who was quartered in the balloting on the Democratic prohibition plank. The tabulation of the vote shows that the Nymeg State cast one-fourth of a vote for the minority report. Taken literally, the return suggests unpleasant, not to say painful, proceedings. Yet, we may hope, that the quartering was done humanely and with anaesthetics, of which Chicago is reputed to have a plentiful supply. Incidentally those quarter delegates may justify the country's correspondent who was wont, in reporting a social function, to write that "between twenty-five and twenty-six persons attended." Fractional humans did not originate in the political conventions.

TELLTALE TONGUES

From Homer we learn that the heroic Greeks. Quite in spite of the "epic" that they got. We have only to reach for some ponderous tome. Although records they left on the rocks, it is true. Which have come down to me and to you. And therefore we well are aware that these birds Were a plundering swashbuckling crew. The fact that we're wise to this rascally tribe Is due to the innocent work of some scribe.

When we want the low down on the doings in Rome— And how Nero conducted himself— We have only to reach for some ponderous tome. Which we'll find on a library shelf. Marc Antony's dallying, Cassius's plots. All sorts of dark stories of crime We can glean from translations or dig out of "trots" If we chance to be crowded for time. The story of all these base rascals we find In voluminous writings their friends left behind.

Of the Mayas, no doubt just as wicked a crew, Who lived in the long long ago, Although records they left on the rocks, it is true, But little we ever shall know. Many epics by subsidized poets were sung Which boasted their wise and their great But all these appear in a mystical tongue That no scholar can wholly translate. Though as bad as the Greeks and the Romans, no doubt, The actual facts we shall never find out.

We can't help harking back to the time when we had 100 per cent American fighters like Sullivan and Kilrain and Dempsey.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

People will reverence another leader as they do Washington when they find another who doesn't want anything for himself. You can tell the man who is big enough for a public office. He doesn't want it. He will always be Franklin to the public, but he may frank to his intimates. By official count, the bug that cost the country most last year was the grasshopper. But this doesn't count the political bee. Anyway, this will go down in history as the world's gosh-awfullest hang-over.

NEVER MIND: MOST OF THE BIG JOBS ARE HELD BY MEN WHO CAN'T PLAY BRIDGE AS WELL AS THEIR WIVES CAN.

The moaners aren't wholly useless. They teach us that something can be worse than a crooner. Emily Post doesn't tell us how to use a gloom-spreader, but the best way is to use the toe of your shoe. You'd stare in wall-eyed astonishment as fish do if people reported your size that way.

AMERICANISM: A divine urge to mend the morals of the adjoining State; a serene indifference to the mess at home.

"How trivial your financial troubles seem when you get into the mountains." Especially if you monkey with poison ivy. Some are made hard-boiled by experience and others are afraid you won't realize how important they are. The astonishing thing is that Washington achieved so much while spending so much time making beds famous.

MAYBE IT JUST DOESN'T TAKE MUCH TO DISCOURAGE A RACE THAT CAN FEEL JUBILANT OVER TAPPING A LITTLE BALL INTO A HOLE.

Farmers have quit using the old terms. There's nothing to inspire either a "Gee!" or a "Haw! Haw!" Maybe it is called an honorary degree because the school uses it to get part of a big man's honor.

Ah, well; if a low income rate indicates safety, that bond of ours is another Gibraltar.

If you are tired of cross-word puzzles, try your wits on the weazel-word puzzle in a Prohibition plank.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "IT WAS A CHARMING LOVE STORY," SAID THE OLD MARRIED MAN, "AND I SAT UP UNTIL 2 A. M. TO FINISH IT."

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

YOUTH AND THE NEXT DECADE

I am writing this but a few days after I conferred academic degrees upon some 1500 young men and women.

As I stood before them for the parting words of counsel I must annually speak as the university of which I am the executive head sends its graduates from its halls, I realized how difficult it is to give counsel in this particular hour in our national life.

The winds of economic disaster have slammed shut many doors of opportunity that would normally be open.

All this in addition to the anxious concern with what the future may hold that always hovers over us as we step from the sheltered life of study into adult participation in the life of state and nation.

Tradition has it that prattling infancy and paled age are the tragic periods, that the anxieties of the child seem tragic and that the anxieties of age are tragic, but that youth knows nothing but high-heated confidence unswayed by disillusionment.

I know that this tradition is not true!

Youth is the truly tragic period. Unless I have wholly forgotten the emotions that swept my mind when, twenty years ago, I faced the fact that of going from the life of school into the school of life, I know that all sorts of anxieties haunted the minds of the 1500 youths before me, anxieties about the first and further steps of their careers.

And these normal anxieties were, I knew, trebled by the phase of political distraction, economic dislocation, and social disinvestment through which the nation is passing.

The platitudes of uncritical hope that flower so lushly from commencement platforms seemed strangely impertinent and irrelevant as I stood before these 1500 young men and women.

I wanted to be the realist in what I said to them.

I did not want to rise in their minds hopes that I knew would be doomed to die unfulfilled.

I wanted to stir in them hopes that could be fulfilled.

And with a full sense of my responsibility to be realistic with them, I counseled them not to let anxiety rest too heavily upon their minds.

The future belongs to their mind and their youth if they will but bring to the affairs of their time the clarity of insight, the candor of thought, and the courage of action for want of which their elders have led our civilization into so many blind alleys.

Tomorrow I shall say why this seems to me true.

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

SWIMMING

Summer time is swimming time and all the children who can reach the water hop in joyfully. Swimming is one of the very best of sports especially for boys. That does not mean that it is not one of the best for girls, as well. They need to learn to swim as much as the boys do. Both need it for self preservation in times of danger, both need it for the fun of it, for the cleanliness and the feeling of power it brings.

There is an element of danger in swimming which makes mother hold back in fear. Many boys have to learn to swim without their parents' knowledge and their safety is not increased by the ban. It would be better to teach the children to swim than to have them learning under cover.

Children are far more reasonable than we give them credit for. If we explain our position and our reasons for caution in learning to swim they will listen. They know as well as we do that unless they can manage themselves in the water they will drown and they will do all in their power to learn to help themselves. They are not likely to believe us when we talk unreasonably and threaten them with death and danger. Give them a few simple rules for safety and provide a place and an instructor and let them strike out for themselves in the water.

No child is to go into the water alone. Impress that idea with all the weight of your authority and experience. No same swimmer goes into the water without a companion, preferably one who can swim. Last summer one of the boys from the city, an expert swimmer, traveled 200 miles to the hills, threw his grip into the hall, took his bathing suit and went down to the lake alone. He never came back and we found him days later among the lily pads. Solo swimming won't do.

When learners are in the water there must be a man in a boat in attendance. This man ought to be skilled in life-saving for there is no telling when one of the inexperienced youngsters will do something to endanger his life.

The swimmers must be active in the water while they remain in it. They are not to stand blue and shivering in the water. They are to dip themselves the moment they reach the water, and from then on keep moving. They can play ball if they cannot swim. They can play and leap about until the teacher gets to them for practice.

It is always better to rest after eating. The children are eager to get into the water but they will have to be trained to wait for an hour and a half or two hours after eating a heavy meal. Tired children, those who have played a hard ball game for example, ought to have a period of rest before swimming. Children whose hearts are not good must be kept under understanding supervision. It will not hurt them to swim if they are wisely directed, and their physician allows it.

One thing more. Never throw a child into deep water with the idea of teaching him to swim. That isn't the way he learns and it's likely to be the way he drowns.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)

TODAY IS THE WORLD WAR ANNIVERSARY

14 Years Ago Today

From The Register Files

JULY 5, 1918

Apricot harvesting season was on in full blast, and it was believed that all the camps in Orange county would be open within the week. The El Toro crop was earlier than in other localities, and pitting had been underway a week.

George S. Briggs, Duane Holmes and A. W. Rutan comprised a party leaving for several days of tuna fishing at Catalina and San Clemente Islands.

Dr. F. W. Slabaugh and family and Dr. J. E. Paul and family were enjoying a vacation motor trip to the Yosemite. They were to be gone for two weeks or longer.

Use of the mayor's office in the city hall as a permanent navy recruiting station was granted to the Los Angeles party headed by Yeoman Gibbs, following a request made by Gibbs to the city council.

Notice was received by the Santa Ana post office that all mail service had been suspended for a number of governments and administrative districts of Russia because the territory was occupied by enemy forces.
